Car crashes into truck

Two Illinois residents were killed and one received minor injuries when their car smashed into the rear of a tractor -trailer rig after passing another vehicle on Interstate 55 Friday night. Howard Partridge, 47, of Mundelein and Charles Diedrich, 25, of Waukegan were pronounced dead at the scene. Dennis Holte, 33, of Lombard was treated for cuts at Missouri Delta Community Hospital. Dennis Ray Rash, 22, of Steele, driver of the truck, was not injured. (Daily Standard Photo)

Burn victim describes ordeal

The condition of three members of the Harold Clark family continued to improve Friday, according to Jim Hubbard, public relations director of Barnes Hospital in St. Louis.

The family was hospitalized Thursday with extensive burns after their house exploded and burned at 1 o'clock that morning.

Clark, 40, suffered burns over 40 per cent of his body. His wife Jolene, 38, was burned over 20 per cent of her body and their daughter Deborah, 17, was burned over 60 per cent of her body.

The father and daughter had been listed as critical on arrival at the hospital and Mrs. Clark was listed as serious. Their condition improved Friday to the point where they were all listed as satisfactory.

Mrs. Clark told Hubbard that the house was struck by lightning about 9:30 p.m. Wednesday. She said she was sitting under the hair dryer and received a shock which numbed her arm. Her husband returned home briefly until she felt better and then returned to work. He is assistant manager at Liberty's Supermarket.

She said sometime after the family went to bed, her 17- year- old daughter, Deborah, came running into their bedroom yelling "the house is on fire."

Mrs. Clark said she and her husband jumped out of bed to find themselves surrounded by flames. At that point she said, the house exploded and the ceiling and walls began falling in on them.

She told Hubbard the three of them worked their way down a hallway to an outside door in the two-year- old brick and frame home. Mrs. Clark said the door swung open on its own as they approached, and they crawled out onto the lawn to await help.

Wednesday was Clark's 40th birthday.

Fire Chief Larry Linnemeyer said Thursday that lightning struck the television antenna and traveled through a wire under the house. The fire burned into the walls of the home until it was detected by Deborah.

The explosion has been blamed on the fire receiving a sudden supply of oxygen, causing the burning area to explode.

Firemen had thought the explosion may have occurred when the family opened the outside door to escape the fire. But Mrs. Clark's statement rules that possibility out. Her story also rules out statements by neighbors who said the Clarks had been blown out of the house by the explosion.

The Clarks are members of Emmanuel Baptist Church, 600 S. Kingshighway. Mrs. Clark said the pastor, Rev. Ed Stephenson, has been with them in St. Louis every day. She asked for the prayers of Sikeston residents and thanked all for their help.

Hubbard said the burns unit is an intensive care facility and is very costly. "I'm sure any help the Clarks can receive, will be appreciated," he added.

A fund has been set up for the family. Anyone wishing to contribute may mail or bring their donations to Priscilla Holyfield, at the IGA Foodliner, 1045 S. Main St. where the older daughter, Shelly, is a cashier, or take the donations to Liberty Supermarket.

Shelly was away from home at the time of the explosion. She is now with the family in St. Louis.

C'ville bridge bids opened

JEFFERSON CITY — The Missouri Highway Commission opened bids Friday on 18 projects including work on the Mississippi River Bridge at Caruthersville. Total cost of the bids is expected to be about $25 million.

The low bidder for construction of concrete deck and electrical work on the I-155 bridge at Caruthersville was the Hensel Phelps Construction Co. of Greeley, Colo. The company bid $4,500,000.

In Scott and Cape Girardeau counties Route AB, the low bidder for general excavation, culverts, and construction of a concrete pavement was the R. B. Potashnick Co. of Cape Girardeau with a bid of $1,093,951.

Vandalism becoming problem

Vandalism to city street and traffic signs is becoming a very serious problem, City Manager Charles Church said Friday.

Church said the signs are put up for the safety and convenience of everyone.

The vandalism is costing the city $6,000 to $7,000 annually, Church said.

Besides being costly, Church said, many serious traffic conditions are created by the removal of stop and yield signs.

"Cooperation and concern of the taxpayers is needed to eliminate this dangerous practice," Church said.

Two Illinois residents were killed and six persons were injured in four southeast Missouri traffic accidents Friday.

The highway patrol said Howard Partridge, 47, of Mundelien, Ill. and Charles Diedrich, 25, of Waukegan, Ill. were fatally injured at 8:55 p.m. on Interstate 55, six miles north of Sikeston.

According to the patrol, the southbound car driven by Partridge, passed another car, pulled back into the right hand lane and crashed into the rear of a southbound tractor- trailer truck driven by Dennis Ray Rash, 22, of Steele.

Dennis Holte, 33, of Lombard, Ill., a passenger in the Partridge car, received cuts and bruises and was taken to the Missouri Delta Community Hospital for treatment.

Brenda Sitz, 26, of McGee suffered minor injuries at 1:30 p.m., three miles south of Poplar Bluff on Route 53 when her southbound car struck a pickup truck driven east by Edna Vanderburg, 17, of Poplar Bluff.

According to the patrol, the accident occurred when Miss Vanderburg pulled into the path of Miss Sitz.

A passenger in Miss Sitz's car, Sandra Northern, 21, of East Prairie received minor injuries and was taken to Lucy Lee Hospital at Poplar Bluff for treatment.

Mildred Martin, 58, of Birmingham, Ala. received minor injuries at 2:45 p.m. on Highway 61 in Steele when a northbound tractor-trailer truck driven by Charles Cook, 27, of Zionsville, Ind. struck the rear of his car.

An accident occurred at 5:30 p.m. on Highway 60 and 144 in Dexter when a southbound car driven by Rita Moser, 25, of Dexter pulled from a service station into the path of an eastbound car driven by John Miller, 69, of Little Rock, Ark.

Joyce Miller, 70, of Little Rock, Ark. and Mary Cunningham, 88, of Cape Girardeau, passengers in Miller's car received minor injuries. Both women were treated at Dexter Memorial Hospital.

Food costs back up

August's average food cost in Sikeston was $1.43 more than the calculated cost for July's average food basket, and about 30 cents more than the cost of June's average basket.

The average food basket for 42 selected items cost Sikeston consumers $29.53 in August, compared to $28.10 for the same items in July.

Food basket costs were averaged Thursday afternoon from a survey of six major grocery stores — Sikeston IGA, Safeway, Liberty, S&S Discount, Marks Food Mart and Barkett's Big Star.

As has been the case in past surveys in Sikeston, no store was consistently lower in all food items surveyed.

The largest price increases for individual products was for three pounds of shortening, which rose an average of 30 cents in price, or 27 per cent, over the average price a month ago. Another large increase occurred in the price of instant tea which showed a 24- cent increase, or 19 per cent jump, over the cost a month ago. (Tea the previous month had showed a 23- cent drop.)

Most fresh vegetable prices remained steady or even fell in price, except for tomatoes which experienced a price increase of 26 cents over a month ago — a whopping 123 per cent increase over the previous month.

Meat prices remained fairly steady, with only a few cents difference over the past month. The largest change in cuts of meat surveyed was for round steak, which fell 10 cents a pound, a seven per cent decrease over a month ago.

In the dairy counter, eggs and margarine both showed a 12- cent increase over last month, about a 20 per cent increase for both products.

Staple foods also showed some of the greatest increases. Sugar was up 21 cents, or 12.5 per cent, while Miracle Whip salad dressing was up 15 cents and 14 per cent. Vegetable oil continued to rise and showed an increase of 12 cents per 24 ounces, or 10 per cent.

The largest drop in price was experienced for a 17-ounce can of fruit cocktail which dropped 20 cents (29 per cent). The product had risen 25 cents when the Aug. 1 survey was taken.

Hospital to begin ambulance service

Missouri Delta Community Hospital will begin operating an ambulance service at 8 a.m. Tuesday, Harold Jones, hospital administrator, said Friday.

The hospital will use the ambulance now being used by Welsh Funeral Home. Welsh is no longer operating an ambulance service because it cannot meet state law requiring a trained attendant in the back of the ambulance and additional emergency equipment.

Jones said the hospital will use Welsh's ambulance until ambulances being provided by the state are delivered. The first is not expected to arrive for several weeks.

The ambulance will be radio equipped to keep it in contact with the hospital. Emergency equipment will be added and trained emergency medical technicians will staff the vehicle, Jones said.

LABOR AND THE ECONOMY

Heavy thinking about the economy is probably the last thing most Americans will want to indulge in as they enjoy this holiday.

Price increases, the skyrocketing cost of food, taxes, lagging stock market — all these are worries we would like to forget, if only for one day.

But the name of the day is, after all, Labor Day, and though it was originally set aside to honor the blue- collar working man, it is upon the labor of all of us that strength and health of the economy are based, whether we work in shop or office or on the land.

The problems and needs of "labor" are thus the problems and needs of the whole nation.

While we are not, fortunately, involved at the moment in widespread labor- management discord, it is not for lack of grievances. Labor has made it plain that it feels the working man suffers most from accelerating inflation and was helped least by the previous administration's halfhearted measures to control same. It has given fair notice of intention to press for early adjustment.

Management can respond by either granting unusually large wage increases to preserve industrial peace or by resisting and thereby courting work stoppages.

Either way, we stand to lose. The first response would further fuel inflation, the second would further hobble already limping production.

Does this mean, then that at such a time of economic imbalance free bargaining between employe and employer no longer suffices? Should the government take a more active role? Do we need something like a Court of Labor- Management Relations whose decision in each dispute would be binding on all parties?

There are those who argue strongly that government should avoid direct involvement in labor - management relationships. Yet it must be accepted that today, labor- management settlements can not be made in isolation from the rest of the economy. It is only government whose responsibilities and powers encompass the entire economy. And it is government whose policies have the greatest impact on that economy.

It is one thing when government speeds up a lagging economy through deficit spending, as it has demonstrated it can do quite handily.

But when that speed becomes too great, when prices soar and buying power shrinks, can government stand aside and let economic nature take its course? It is a question that must be answered.

It is not only encouraging that President Ford has given the economy priority in the attention of his administration. It is essential..

OH, TO BE A SWINGER

It's very hard for many college students to live up to the roles they have been given by the mass media. What newspapers, magazines and television networks expect from students is more than most of them can deliver. I discovered this when I was speaking at a Midwestern campus not long ago.

A student, whom I shall call Ronald Hoffman, seemed very troubled and I asked him what the problem was.

"My parents are coming up next week, and I don't know what to do.

"Well, you see, I told them I was living off campus with this coed in an apartment. But the tuuth is that I'm living in the dormitory."

"That shouldn't really disturb them."

"Oh, but it will. They're very proud of me, and they think I should have a mind of my own. When my dad heard I was living off campus with a coed, he doubled my allowance because, as he put it, 'Anyone who is willing to spit in the eye of conformity deserves his father's support.' I don't know what he's going to say when he finds out I used the money to buy books."

"It'll hurt him," I agreed. "What will your mother say?"

"I don't know. She's been crying a lot since I wrote her about living with this coed, and Dad's been arguing with her that her trouble is she doesn't understand youth. Mom's likely to get pretty sore when she discovers she's been crying for nothing."

"Not to mention how silly your father will look for making her cry."

Ronald shook his head sadly. "The trouble with parents these days is they believe everything they read. Newsweek magazine, in a 'Sex on the Campus' article, made it sound so easy to find a coed to live with. Well, let me tell you, for every girl who's playing house with a male student, there are a million coeds who won't even do the dishes."

"Then all this talk of students living out of wedlock is exaggerated?"

"Exaggerated? When I got here, I asked 10 girls if they wanted to live with me. The first one said she didn't come to college to iron shirts for the wrong guy, four told me frankly that it would hurt their chances of finding a husband, four told me to drop dead and one reported me to the campus police. I was lucky to get a room in the dormitory."

"I guess it's no fun for a young man to pretend he's a swinger."

"You can say that again. Every time I go home, everybody wants to know about the pot parties and orgies I go to at school. The only thing that's saved me is that I've seen 'Deep Throat' twice."

"You have to depend on your imagination."

"What college boy doesn't?" Ronald said. "There are more conscientious objectors among coeds in the sexual revolution than any modern sociologist would dare admit."

"It's enough to destroy your faith in Hugh Hefner," I said.

"Look, I'm not complaining," Ronald said. "I'm just trying to figure out how to explain it to my father. He's living his fantasies through me, and I hate to let him down."

"Why don't you tell him the reason you can't introduce the coed you're living with is that she's going to have a baby?"

"Hey," Ronald said, "that's a great idea. It might cause Mom to cry again, but it will make Dad awfully proud."

WE NEED TO TAKE A LOOK AT LEGAL SERVICES BILL

In debating the Legal Services Corporation proposal recently, Sen. Jesse Helms (R.-N.C.) scored virtually all aspects of the measure. Far from being a device aimed at helping the poor, said Helms, the Corporation measure, which abolishes the current weak safeguards against activist abuse, even to the extent of completely removing the partial veto now given to the governors over legal services projects, is actually a device to promote radicalism.

Since most of us are not aware of the political play in Washington, we believe the following excerpts from remarks made by Sen. Helms will be enlightening:

"As one who believes in limited federal intervention in our lives, I would prefer a situation in which it were not necessary to place any restrictions on legal service attorneys. Indeed, I would oppose any such restrictions on attorneys in private practice, relying instead on the ability of the individual client to serve his own interest in choosing or discarding lawyers as might seem appropriate. Unfortunately, HR 7824 would preserve the unfair and trouble- causing practice which has grown up at OEO of denying the poor the equal chance to hire and fire their own attorneys. Instead, if they are lucky enough to be chosen as a client, they are stuck with whichever staff attorney is assigned to represent them.

"Do we want legal services attorneys to represent persons under the age of 18 without the consent of their parents? Such would be sanctioned under HR 7824.

"Do we want to freeze-in the existing control of many legal services programs by such groups as the American Civil Liberties Union and the National Lawyers Guild and the National Welfare Rights Organization? HR 7824 would to that.

"Do we wish to permit funding of public interest law firms, which use the courts to achieve changes in public policy along lines favored by those who control such firms? Such funding is permitted under HR 7824.

"Do we wish to prevent state and local governments from providing legal services under this act, except to supplement programs controlled by private organizations? HR 7824 includes that restriction.

"Do we wish to require a trial- type hearing before any private group funded to deliver legal services may be replaced by another? HR 7824 makes it virtually impossible not to renew funding for a particular organization once it has been granted.

"Shall we permit legal aid lawyers to represent and assist private groups which act in the name of the poor -- groups like the American Indian Movement and Berkeley Anti-Police Youth Coalition or the National Tenants Organization? HR 7824 concedes such permission.

"Shall we permit staff attorneys to aid boycotts, strikes, picketing, ballot referendums, or other activities in support of causes they personally prefer? HR 7824 permits it.

"Do we want taxpayers - subsidized vehicle, office equipment, and resources to be placed at the disposal of groups and individuals favored by local staff attorneys? HR 7824 permits it.

"Do we want taxpayer-subsidized attorneys and support staff to be engaged in legislative and administrative lobbying, the drafting of legislation and regulation, or the rendering of staff support to favored legislators and favored causes? HR 7824 permits it, whenever doing in the name of a client, or by the request of a single legislator, or bureaucrat - depending on whether it involved legislative or administrative rulemaking.

"Do we want legal services for the poor to be a driving forces in the organization of prisoners and mobilization of inmate dissent? Such is authorized by law under HR 7824, whereas at OEO it has simply been a matter of practice on which the law has been silent."

So while the President and Congress keep talking about cutting the federal budget, it seems they are close to creating a new bureaucracy that will add millions of dollars in federal funds to causes and organizations supported by George McGovern in 1972 and against which millions of Americans voted.

MAKE THEM EARN IT

Week after week the Democrat receives complaints from its subscribers about not getting the paper. We fear most of them think it is the fault of our mailing department. As an example, Walter Rash, who lives in Oklahoma, missed four straight issues in July and August. His plate in the mailing machine showed exactly the same address his letter of complaint did. The only thing we could do was to give it to the postmaster. As a boy we didn't have nearly so much trouble with our letters bearing a 2-cent stamp, nor with the newspaper which circulated at a fraction of its present cost.

PRODUCING STATES ARE SHORT ON
SOME THINGS, TOO

States which produce petroleum and natural gas beyond their current needs are victims of a kind of discrimination. Northeastern states exercise their political power to, in effect, confiscate the resources of other states.

If all the 49 other states ganged up on New York and used their political power to "allocate," for example, capital funds, of which New York has a major share, the citizens of New York would get a taste of what is being done to other states.

Control and ownership of capital funds is centered in New York City. Every state suffers a shortage of capital. So it would seem just as fair to "allocate" Louisiana's natural gas. Louisiana is forced, along with other gas and oil producing states, to give up resources -- and at controlled prices far below world market value.

So, Louisiana citizens might ask, why cannot New York capital be "allocated" to Louisiana citizens at, say, one percent interest if Louisiana natural gas is going to be "allocated" to New York citizens at a tenth of its value?

Louisiana also needs Pittsburg's steel to drill for oil and gas, so steel could be "allocated" to Louisiana at, say, $30 per ton rather than $300.

Actually, it is not just Louisiana that suffers this discrimination. Citizens of a half- dozen states suffer tremendously and those of another two dozen are damaged to a lesser extent. It is past time to halt this discrimination. HLH

JACK ANDERSON and LES WHITTEN SAYS:

Eastland and Pot

The veteran Judiciary Committee chairman is working quietly to relax marijuana laws so young students and workers and other "pot" smokers will not be jailed for simple possession of the drug.

Eastland, whose closest contact with drugs is a good cigar and a tot of whiskey, has become convinced that jailing those caught with a few "joints" is not the way to stop marijuana traffic.

After talking earnestly with Walt and listening to dozens of witnesses at various hearings, the senator came to the concludions that "pot" may cause genetic, brain, lung and other damage. He also decided that traffickers still deserve stiff penalties and that even possession should not be completely "decriminalized."

But the possibility of a year in jail and a $5,000 fine for a youth caught by federal agents with a single marijuana cigarette is excessive in Eastland's view. As a result, his Internal Security staff is conferring regularly with the Drug Enforcement Agency on possible legislation. Shortly after Labor Day, Senate staffers will meet with DEA's legal office to hammer out a formal draft.

Eastland has not made up his mind entirely, but he is toying with the idea of setting a fine for a first "possession" offense, and explicitly banning jail. A second offense would bring a stiffer fine.

Since state laws tend to follow federal statutes, and since Eastland's judiciary committee writes federal laws, it may be that a whole generation of marijuana dabblers will praise Jim Eastland's name.

Footnote: On Eastland's Mississippi plantation, state narcotics agents found a marijuana patch near the Sunflower River. The seantor cooperated in a stake- out, but the "pot" planters, who had been harvesting by boat apparently learned of the surveillance and abandoned the crop.

Natural Gas: In letters to many newspapers, the American Petroleum Institute (API), whose members own much of the nation's natural gas, cites numerous figures to try to disprove our disclosures that Big Oil is driving up natural gas prices with faked figures.

It is worth noting that we sent our own figures to the API statisticians before we wrote our story. The API did not quibble with them then, and does not now in its letter. In fact, the API ignores the crucial figures.

To repeat them: Big Oil reported exploratory natural gas strikes from 7.9 to 9.4 per cent of the time off Louisiana until 1972 when they began to connive for price increases. Then, mysteriously, the strikes dropped to 2.4 per cent in 1972 and to a mere one per cent in 1973. This allowed the oil companies to demand more consumer money, supposedly so they could carry out more exploration.

It is small wonder that Federal Power Commission experts told us they had "never seen such a gross aberration" and the Senate Commerce Committee staff suggest the oil companies are "simply lying" in order to get more money.

A few other figures are glaringly omitted from the API letter: Some of its members with natural gas holdings report profit increases in excess of 100 per cent since the energy crisis began. Such profits are possible because gasoline and natural gas prices are up from 60 to 100 per cent and likely to climb still higher.

Critical Punishment: The federal judges in Baltimore who stepped aside in the Agnew case to avoid any possible charges of cronyism have nevertheless tried to punish one of Agnew's most vocal critics.

The target of their unsuccessful action was John Banzhaf III, a prominent consumer advocate and law professor in Washington. The Baltimore judges were incensed because Banzhaf had announced in a press release that he had filed suit to block then- Vice President Agnew from subpoenaing reporters and to force appointment of a special Agnew prosecutor.

One of the ringleaders in the unusual effort to punish Banahaf was Federal Judge C. Stanley- Blair, an Agnew pal and aide who was given a lifetime judgeship by President Nixon at Agnew's bidding. The other was Judge Herbert Murray, personally cleared for his job in 1971 after a 30- minute interview with Agnew.

Claiming Banzhaf was in "apparent violation of the Code of Professional Responsibility," the Baltimore judges urged legal disciplinary authorities in Washington to investigate Banzhaf. After much waffling the Washington disciplinary unit threw the judges' request out.

Book Picks: "The Palace Guard" by CBS newsmen Dan Rather and Gary Paul Gates expertly catches the piranha quality of the Nixon White House. There, H. R. Haldeman manipulates Spiro Agnew, John Ehrlichman sneers at honorable men like Bob Finch as "the Pasadena Hamlet" and Pat Moynihan as "our Oscar Wilde," and a Secret Service man loathingly confides that "We say ... come the revolution, be sure and save two bullets: one for Haldeman and one for Ehrlichman."

"The Politician Primeval," by Hubert Humphrey's doctor and advisor, Dr. Edgar Berman, is so outrageously candid about the press and politicians that the book took three months to clear the libel lawyers. Still, Berman omits one of his most ribald true tales: the names of the famed reporters who, on the way home from an Asian tour with Humphrey, had to be shot with mamassive doses of penicillin because they pursued Asian pleasures more zealously than they did news stories.

Caesar's Ghost: The Strange Case of Rebozo's Check Cashing

NEW YORK — And there I was at my favorite Viennese sidewalk cafe tenderly savoring a Sacher torte when my Austrian friend asks if I had known that an American, Charles Rebozo, had slipped in and out of Dick Nixon's overnight castle in Salzburg not too long ago. When I returned to my hotel I dug into some documents accumulating for analysis when I could get to them and dug up references to the squire of Key Biscayne -- Bebe Rebozo.

Suddenly it made amazing reading. Bebe Rebozo, who was so close to an American President, also appears close to some strange fellows. Mighty strange. And dealt with even stranger ones without name checking them or their backgrounds.

There is a chap, Louis Pasquale Mastriana, now serving an 8- year prison term who had a $115,000 check he wanted cashed some years ago.

As Mastriana described it in sworn testimony, he began to make contacts. Eventually the check was cashed with Bebe Rebozo's approval in the latter's Key Biscayne Bank. Rebozo didn't know that Mastiana was a mob money mover, a self- confessed pusher of stolen securities and fraudulent stock, a former numbers runner for Jimmy Blue Eyes Alo of the Genovese hooddom; a friend of men who represented the so- called Mafia families of Carlo Gambino, Angelo Bruno and the Magaddinos and other such assorted muscle dispensers.

Rebozo didn't know that the $115,000 check issued by a respectable brokerage house, F. I. duPont, covered part of a sale of securities stolen from the mails at Kennedy Airport.

All Rebozo knew was that a friend had telephoned him to say a man by the name of Mastriana had the paper and needed the cash. Rebozo obviously said tell him to come in. Mastriana did.

The hood, now serving time, came and walked out with a partial payment of $18,000 in cash. He returned for the rest. Rebozo, knowing full well of his own influential status in the national community should have checked. He didn't. But he took Mastriana's word that the latter was in the labor and public relations business. Mastriana sure was.

The thug was an acknowledged leg breaker, a shakedown artist, a peddler of violence and labor peace in Florida. He had something he called the "L and M Associates."

Rebozo never checked. Mastriana himself wondered why, I'm told. Actually Mastriana, who grew from a bum in the Bronx to a big time international stolen securities operative, said under oath what appears to be quite contemptuous of Rebozo -- "I understand he would take a hot stove, too, if you gave it to him."

And though Bebe Rebozo didn't know anything about Mastriana's background except that he was carrying an inconvenient $115,000 check, the banker asked the hood if he could get some union funds into his bank. There is no evidence to show that Rebozo asked what unions Mastriana represented. Nor for whom the self- confessed Mafia money man did public relation.

For a man in Rebozo's position as a banker and man around many towns, this was mighty careless.

How did Mastriana get to Rebozo? Well the sworn testimony says that Mastriana knew a fellow by name of Joey Biancano, who went to prison with the former Newark Mayor Hugh Addonizio. Actually "Joey B" has some other grim associations.

Now, there is no real evidence that Mastriana's background was known to a chap by name of Frank Petrucci who comes into this tale as the Florida man who telephoned Rebozo and asked him to see Mastriana.

Here's the sequence as Mastriana swore to it during a Senate hearing: the stolen securities pusher made contact with Biancano who allegedly made contact with Petrucci who then made the phone call to his good friend Rebozo.

So grateful was Mastriana that he took $10,000 out of the cash he got at the Key Biscayne Bank and lent it to Petrucci. Mastriana said he had a receipt for the loan.

Of course, Rebozo depended on Petrucci with whom Mastriana says the banker did a lot of business. But it's all very strange banking practice. A man walks in off the street with a six- figure check and gets it cashed. Why not hold it a few days and check it all out?

Now this case is not to be confused with any other. The Justice Department had done a thorough investigation of another case and there's no -- repeat no -- evidence that in any instance Rebozo knew of any stolen securities. But Rebozo, as a man who has ridden cheek by jowl with the world's most powerful national executive, owes his friend, his country, and a lot of other people a full explanation of this strange Mastriana episode.

There are reports that special Watergate Prosecutor Jaworski's sleuths are interested in Rebozo, Caesar's friend. In Caesar, too, who may find he did himself in more brutally than he believed by his own hand.

Promoter admits drugs at music festival

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Robert Shaw, Kansas City advertising executive and one of the principal promoters, acknowledged Friday that the use and sale of drugs was widespread at the Ozark Music Festival.

Shaw testified for more than 2½ hours before a special committee of the Missouri Senate which is investigating the rock festival, held at the state fairgrounds at Sedalia on July 19, 20 and 21.

At its peak, the crowd was estimated unofficially at 150,000. It left the fairgrounds a mess of wreckage, litter and excrement. Hundreds were treated for overdoses of drugs and one victim died.

Shaw testified Friday that the corporation organized to sponsor the festival, Musi Productions, Inc., spent more than $100,000 to advertise it.

State Sen. Richard Webster, R-Carthage, co-chairman of the special investigating committee, asked Shaw to read off a list of radio stations which carried advertising spots.

Besides Missouri, they were in Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas, Arkansas, Tennessee, Kentucky, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa and Nebraska.

Webster said the attraction had been represented to state officials as a blue grass or soft rock music festival.

"Was it blue grass and soft rock, or was it hard rock and acid rock?" Sen. Webster asked Shaw.

"It was a festival consisting of rock and blue gass."

"Did you in fact have any blue grass performers — and remember you're talking to someone who was raised on blue grass music?"

"Well, Earl Scruggs I think would be considered blue grass."

"No, not by a real connoisseur he wouldn't," Webster said.

"Sir," Shaw sai, "you're asking me to define types of music, and I don't think Im prepared to do that."

Sen. Webster noted that most of the radio advertising spots for the festival were done by Wolfman Jack, a national star who had a syndicated rock music show.

"Who prepared the Wolfman Jack copy?" Sen. Webster asked.

"Our copy writers," Shaw replied.

"Did that include the statement: 'We're going to spend three days on grass.'?"

"In all fairness, he does have a tendency to personalize his spots."

"Did you audit the tapes to see if he followed your copy?"

"Yes."

"In other words, you were satisfied he had followed your copy closely enough?"

"Well, it would have been poor to say: 'We're going to spend three days on the asphalt or the cement.'"

Under questioning by State Sen. Lem T. Jones, R-Kansas City, Shaw said Music Productions, Inc., had agreed with the state to limit ticket sales to 50,000.

When Webster took up the point, Shaw acknowledged that the sales of $15 advance tickets was cut off at 50,000 but then $20 admissions were sold. It was not disclosed how many were sold.

Shaw said it became impossible to keep those who did not have tickets out of the fairgrounds. Holes were cut in fences, and cars and trucks were driven through, he said.

The other cochairman of the committee, Sen. Ike Skelton, DLexington, asked Shaw about a news release issued by the promoters on April 19 which said security at the festival would be under the direction of the Pettis County sheriff at Sedalia, Emmett W. Fairfax. Fairfax testified at an earlier session that he not direct security and had not agreed to.

Shaw said it was his understanding that Music Productions, Inc., had a contingency agreement with Fairfax.

"But the news release flatly states that the sheriff would supervise security," Sen. Skelton said. "It says nothing about any contingency agreement. Isn't that ture?"

"Yes," Shaw said.

Wells Fargo Security Guard Service provided 300 guards for the music festival; and another of Friday's witnesses was Ronald P. Mealey, attorney for Baker Industries, Inc., parent company of Wells Fargo.

He said the 300 guards employed by Wells Fargo worked 12-hour shifts. An earlier witness for Wells Fargo testified the size of the crowd called for 900 guards instead of 300.

Guard truck collides with car; no injury

No one was injured Friday when a National Guard truck driven by Carl Thomas Joyce, 46, of 504 Benton St., collided with a car driven by Mrs. Linda Arnold, 20, of 209 Gladys.

Joyce had just returned from two weeks at Camp Riley, Kans. with Sikeston Company C of the 1140th Engineer Battalion of the National Guard.

The accident occurred at 6:12 p.m. when Mrs. Arnold, traveling north on South Main St., attempted to change from the inside lane to the outside lane and turn onto Matthews St. The National Guard truck collided with the Arnold car when Joyce, also northbound on South Main, made a right turn onto Matthews St. from the outside lane of South Main.

The truck was not damaged and only minor damage was reported to Mrs. Arnold's car.

Bond says tax hike could come if vetoes nixed

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — In a letter to Missouri lawmakers Friday, Gov. Christopher S. Bond said a tax increase could result if the legislature overturns his vetoes of major spending programs next week.

The legislature begins a veto session Wednesday. It can't last longer than 10 days, and legislative leaders are hoping to finish in three days.

To override a veto, it takes a two-thirds vote in both houses— 23 votes in the Senate and 109 in the House. Democrats hold 21-13 advantage in the Senate and a 99-64 advantage in the House.

The president pro tem of the Senate, Democrat William J. Cason of Clinton, said he would push for veto overrides on bills to increase state aid to junior colleges and to increase by $3 a month the Aid to Dependent Children.

Cason also criticized Bond's veto of $3.5 million from the higher education budget, including $1.4 million from the University of Missouri and $893,000 from Lincoln University's budget.

"We will do all we can to reset the priorities and override his veto" on the junior college bill, Cason said. State aid would have been increased from $400 per semester hour taught by a college to $525 per semester hour.

Also vetoed was a bill hiking judges' pay by an average of $3,500 annually.

Bond's vetoes chopped over $6 million from appropriations and cut out new programs which would cost $7.4 million a year.

The session opens in the Senate at 10 a.m. Wednesday. At 2 p.m., a portrait of former Gov. Warren E. Hearnes will be unveiled and placed in the Capitol rotunda.

The portrait was painted in 1965 by former St. Louis Cardinals baseball star Curt Flood, and has been reproduced and enlarged.

The House will open its veto session at 4 p.m. Wednesday.

"If we cannot control spending, a tax increase will necessarily follow," Bond said.

He said estimates by his staff show the state had a balance of $77.2 million on July 1, almost $20 million less than a year ago.

He said the balance will be reduced, at the current rate of spending, to $26.3 million by July 1, 1975.

In the present fiscal year, Bond said, the state will spend about $50 million more than it takes in.

"Besides the pressure that new programs have had on the state's surplus, inflation and greatly increased fuel costs also will add to the fiscal problems in the current year," Bond said.

"The state's employes have been falling behind in pay. We estimate that a modest increase just to keep salaries and operations at reasonable levels will require about $43 million in additional appropriations during fiscal year 1976."

Meany asks Ford to drop Nixon economic policies

WASHINGTON (AP) — AFLCIO President George Meany called on President Ford in a Labor Day message Friday to abandon the economic policies of the Nixon administration and look for new humanitarian ways to curb inflation.

In a generally pessimistic annual statement, Meany said, "All across America, families have been forced to abandon efforts to improve the 'quality of life' in favor of just survival."

Apart from a general suggestion that the President lower interest rates, Meany offered no specific ideas on how to blunt the rapidly increasing cost of living.

The 80-year-old labor leader said American families are barely "making do" in filling basic needs like food, housing and health care.

"Some might say that these hardships visited on the American people are their share in a national sacrifice to defeat inflation," he said.

But corporate profits have risen steadily, Meany said, including 28 per cent in the second quarter of 1974, a higher rate than two years of steady inflation.

"This is not sacrifice," he said. "This is greed."

"Inflation, unemployment — these are people problems and they call out for humanitarian solutions," he said.

"Until now, the government has treated the problems as mathematic equations. It is our hope the new President will see more than just cold, cruel numbers — that he'll see people, not percentages, and that he will move with compassion."

Tired but home from camp

Missouri is ninth in tax collection

WASHINGTON (AP) — Missouri ranks ninth among the 50 states in per-capita collection of federal income and employment taxes but 47th last year in the amount per person it receives back through revenuesharing, Rep. Jerry Litton, DMo., said Friday.

Litton said he has been studying how the state fares under revenue-sharing in comparision with others for a year, with the aid of the General Accounting Office, Congress' watchdog agency.

Missouri was 47th this year in per-capita redistribution of the revenue-sharing funds, he said.

Litton's study showed Delaware paying the highest income and employment taxes per person, at $2.321, and Mississippi the least, at $476. Missouri paid $1.417 per person.

But the last, Mississippi, became first when it came to revenue-sharing, with that state receiving $61.92 per person. Missouri received $32.77 per person and Ohio, 50th, received $30.98.

Using another indicator, Litton said he calculated revenuesharing payments as a percentage of taxes. Mississippi again came out on top, with its revenue-sharing money equal to 13 per cent of taxes paid.

Missouri was 44th with 2.31 per cent and Connecticut brought up the bottom with 1.79 per cent.

After 30 months of revenuesharing, Litton said, only Florida, Alaska and Ohio received less per person than Missouri.

"As you can see, Missourians are doing more paying than receiving when it comes to getting money back from their federal taxes in the form of revenue-sharing than most other citizens," Litton said.

Farm prices up 3 per cent

WASHINGTON (AP) — Prices of raw farm products rose 3 per cent from July 15 to Aug. 15 but was still 13 per cent below the all-time record level set a year ago, the Agriculture Department said Friday.

The department's Crop Reporting Board said higher prices for corn, soybeans, cattle, hogs, wheat and eggs accounted for most of the increase.

Lower prices for potatoes lettuce, calves and apples helped soften the monthly rise in the index, officials said.

Administration officials have warned that consumer food prices will be going up the remainder of this year more than expected.

will be available for emergency work but not for transprotation type pickups. He said there is only one ambulance and it would be too expensive for the hospital.

The ambulance fee will be a minimum $25 per trip, Jones said.

Jones said that beginning Tuesday, anyone needing an ambulance may call 471-7000 or 471-7001.

The hospital ambulance will serve Sikeston and the southern half of Scott County and the northern half of New Madrid County. Beginning Sept. 1 people in the northern half of Scott County will be served by the Roush Ambulance Co. of Cape Girardeau.

The service will run through Jan. 1 when the county expects to have ambulances available.

People needing an ambulance in that area may call the Scott County Sheriff's office in Benton at 545-3525.

In a candlelight ceremony

Miss Needham weds Deane

ST. LOUIS — Southwest Baptist Church was the setting Aug. 3 for the candlelight ceremony uniting Miss Dorothy Louise Needham and William H. Deane IV in marriage.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Frances Louise Needham of St. Louis and the late Malcolm L. Needham. Deane is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Deane III of 607 Elm St., Sikeston. Grandparents are Mrs. S. N. Ping of St. Louis, Mr. and Mrs. William Dean Jr. of Sikeston Route One and Mr. and Mrs. Champ Bomer of 618 Taylor St., Sikeston.

The aisle was decorated with single taper candelabra and white streamers entwined with ivy at every other pew. Two matching tiered candelabra holding 15 tapers each and greenery were at the altar. A unity candle adorned the center of the altar and was lit jointly by the bride and groom at the end of the ceremony.

Prenuptial organ music was played by Mrs. J. Edwin Hewlett of St. Louis. She accompanied Mrs. Petty Bay of St. Louis as she sang, "I Love Thee" and "The Lord's Prayer", during the ceremony. Greg Shiner of St. Louis sang, "Colour My World" and "Alma Mater", accompanied by Bob Kilzer of St. Louis on the piano, and sang, "Follow Me" and "The Wedding Song", accompanied by Chuck Hanna of Illmo on the guitar.

The bride was given in marriage by her cousin, J. Richard Dancaster of Des Plains, Ill. She chose a pure white, mira mist, organza gown fashioned in an empire silhouette, high neckline and long, full, shepherdess sleeves.

Motifs of Venise lace and appliques of Alencon lace floral motifs were placed on the bodice, neckline and topped the sleeves. Motifs also were used through the sleeve and outlined the ruffled cuff. Lace topped the deep flounce that bordered the hemline all around, and the tiny Venise lace edged the border that extended all around and into a full sweep train.

A matching lace Camelot headpiece with pearls was secured to a long veil outlined with matching lace and lace motifs through the veil. The veil fell to the sweep of the bridal train. Her only jewelry was a set of pearl earrings, a gift from the groom.

She carried a bouquet of snowdrift, baby's breath, cymbidium orchids, pink roses, pastel daisies and carnations. Long streamers with love knots complimented the bouquet.

Mrs. Bonnie Hanna of Illmo served as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Miriam Caldwell, Miss Diane Vader and Miss Shirley Leong of St. Louis; Mrs. Anita Harrison of Belleville, Ill., sister of the bride; Miss Sheila O'Brian of Fairview Heights, Ill.; and Mrs. Buena House of Bonne Terre.

Their dresses were of sheer, pink, floral print organza over pink dacron. The gowns featured a full skirt with a deep ruffle and full sleeves with fitted cuffs. The girls wore matching picture hats and carried baskets of purple daisies and baby's breath with matching bow and long streamers with love knots.

Misses Laurie and Lisa Deane, sisters of the groom, were candlelightes. Their dresses were designed like those worn by the bridesmaids in an orchid floral print organza over orchid dacron. They carried a pink daisy and baby's breath nosegay with a pink taper candle in the center.

Mark Deane of Sikeston, a brother of the groom, was best man. Groomsmen were Brad Gilliland, Fred Cauthorn, Julian Moore, Wayne Sanderson, Robert Reynolds, Don Russell and Phil Puckett of Sikeston, Herb Rowell of Morehouse, Don House of Bonne Terre and Ronnie Woods of Belleville, Ill., nephew of the bride. The groomsmen also served as ushers.

As the bride was escorted down the aisle, she presented her mother with a long-stemmed pink rose from her bouquet. Following the ceremony, she presented the groom's mother a long-stemmed pink rose.

The table was overlaid with a white lace cloth. A summer bouquet of pastel-colored daisies and baby's breath was in the center, and two punch bowls, a silver coffee service and two silver candelabra, a gift from the groom, complemented the table. A summer buffet was served.

The four -tiered cake with Grecian columns was placed on a white covered table draped with net and decorated with pink bows. Fresh pink daisies surrounded the bottom tier of the cake which was topped with pink daisies and white sugar doves. Reception hostess was Mrs. Joe Barker of St. Louis. Gail Thayer, Charetta Porter and Marilyn Noll of St. Louis and Vicki Harrison of Belleville, Ill., acted as servers.

On the eve of the wedding, the groom's parents were hosts for a rehearsal dinner at a Howard Johnson Restaurant for the wedding party and out -of -town guests.

Following a wedding trip to the Lake of the Ozarks, the couple is living at 414 Illinois, Ave., Sikeston. Both are students at Southeast Missouri State University in Cape Girardeau.

Miss Needham was honored July 12 with a miscellaneous shower given by the ladies of the Rauch -Spence United Methodist Church in Morehouse.

On July 13, a shower was given at the home of Mrs. W.C. Mulcahy of 108 Dudley Drive, Sikeston. Hostesses were Mrs. Mulcahy, Mrs. Ken Cauthorn, Mrs. Howard Reynolds and Mrs. Jean Dixon of Sikeston.

A barbecue supper, hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Willard McMikle and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hanna of Sikeston and Mr. and Mrs. Chuck Hanna of Illmo, was given July 13 in the McMikle home, 224 Kramer Drive, Illmo, for the bride and groom and the wedding party.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Alsup of Sikeston, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Binford and Miss Dianne Ezzell of Bertrand, Mrs. John Dancaster of Des Plains, Ill., Ron Mellick of Stratford, Conn., Mike Hodges of Matthews, Keith Sharkey of Morehouse, Joyce Martin of Fredricktown and Kathi Lenin of Chicago.

Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: You will probably be receiving plenty of letters about the boy who wrote to complain because he was "the kid in the middle."

Well, I'm the youngest and I would gladly trade places with him. Here are the reasons:

Whenever anyone comes to the house, Mom or Dad introduces me by saying, "And this is our baby." I am 14 years old.

Almost every teacher I've had says, "So you're another ..... Well, I hope you're the last because I don't think I could stand another one."

Grandparents always want the youngest to stay a baby forever and it bugs me. Their favorite expression is, "My goodness, you're growing like a weed." (They see me every week.)

The youngest gets the hand-me- down clothes and the fewest privileges because even though he is grown- up, they think of him as a little kid and nothing will ever change it. -- Last In Line And That's For Sure

Dear Pal: Would you believe I received more beefs from the OLDEST kid in the family? There's no way a child can pick his spot, so my advice to all of you is to make the best of it and kwitcherbellyachin'.

Dear Ann Landers: This is no problem. It's a complaint-- against that bigmouth kid (aged 17) who was mad because salespeople and bus drivers kept calling him "Miss."

"So I wear long hair. Why not? It's the style," he wrote. Then he went on to say nobody thinks anything of it when girls wear jeans and shirts like guys. He claims the girls are copying the boys. His final clincher was, "I think it's rotten that I am mistaken for a girl but the girls in jeans and shirts are never mistaken for boys. How come?"

Why didn't you tell the jerk that boys who wear long hair are copying girls? Thanks. – Off My Chest

Dear Chest: Good point, but I made an even bigger gaffe by not telling him that it works both ways. Many a girl has been mistaken for a boy, like the time I told a neighbor, "I've seen your son in the elevator and he is very attractive." The woman replied coldly, "We don't have a son. That's our daughter."

Dear Ann Landers: I am not seeking advice. I have a word to say to the woman whose husband is eating breakfast downtown because his wife is such a slob.

Dear Friend: when you were dating, how much time did you spend primping before he came for you?

No husband expects his wife to look like Miss America at seven o'clock in the morning. But he is entitled to something better than a headful of rollers, a ratty bathrobe, and a sour face.

I am 23 and have been married for nearly three years. When I get up to fix my husband breakfast I take a few minutes to brush my hair, put on a little makeup and slip into a fresh house dress. I am not a raving beauty, but I look good enough to keep him out of restaurants in the morning. Just call me – A Smart Cookie

Dear Cookie: Please write to me again in ten years, after you've had three kids.

Giants down Cards, 8-2

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Dave Kingman belted a threerun homer to highlight a fiverun first-inning rally and the San Francisco Giants coasted to an 8-2 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals Friday night.

Tito Fuentes started the rally off Sonny Siebert, 7-8, with a one-out single, moved to third on Gary Thomasson's single and scored on Reggie Smith's throwing error.

Gary Matthews walked and Ed Goodson grounded a runscoring single to left before Kingman hammered his 15th homer, a three-run blast.

Mike Caldwell, 13-3, got the victory, which tied him with injured Los Angeles Dodgers lefthander Tommy John for best winning percentage in the majors at .813.

The Cardinals scored a run in the fifth on Luis Melendex' RBI single, then knocked Caldwell out with three single in the ninth. Elias Sosa came on to preserve the victory.

Cage rule changes

Missouri high school basketball fans will see some changes in the rules when attending the games in 1974-75 according to the Missouri High School Activities Journal.

The biggest change possibly will be the holding up of the hand when a personal foul is committed by a player. A player charged with a foul is not required to raise his hand to be identified.

This rule has long been a sour point to both coaches and players down through the years. Sometime a boy is called for a personal foul and does not agree with the referee and reluctantly lifts his hand. In the past a boy called for a personal foul was required to identify himself by raising his hand or be called for a technical foul allowing the opposing team a free shot and the ball out of bounds.

There didn't seem to be any need for the raising of hand as the referee was responsible for identifying the guilty person to the official score keeper. Professional basketball players never have to raise their hand when called for a personal foul and the official score keeper was always able to keep count of the fouls committed by each player.

Other rules differences for the 1974-75 season are: Casts or braces of pliable (soft) plastic worn on the arm, elbow, finger, hand or wrist are prohibited.

One identifying name may be placed horizontally or vertically on the front and/or back of the shirt.

Games involving teams which combine 9th grade students with students of the 8th and/or 7th grades may be played in 8 minute quarters.

If a correctible error is made while the clock is running, a coaches request to the scorer may be made while the clock is running.

(Penalty): It is a violation, the ball is awarded out- of- bounds to the opponent and no points are scored, if the ball is touched in the basket after entering from below.

(Penalty): Any coach, team attendant or follower charged with a flagrant foul must go to his team's locker room or leave the building until the game is ended. If the offender is a substitute he shall be banished from the vicinity of the court.

Tarkenton gets starting call

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Quarterback Fran Tarkenton puts in his first Busch Stadium appearance in three years while leading the Minnesota Vikings against the St. Louis Cardinals in a preseason National Football League game Saturday night.

The performance by the 34year-old Tarkenton, who is scheduled to start, will be his second this month as helsman of the NFL's defending National Conference champions.

Two weeks ago Tarkenton completed only four of 12 passes as the Vikings were halted 21-9 by the Miami Dolphins in an encore to Super Bowl VII.

Last week he watched from the sidelines as Bob Berry directed Minnesota to a 32-13 triumph over the Buffalo Bills with backing from rookie Hal Chealander.

Accompanying Tarkenton in the Viking backfield will be Chuck Foreman, the NFL's top rookie offensive player in 1973, and 36-year-old Bill Brown, a 14th season veteran.

While Minnesota amassed 401 yards last week, 228 on Berry's passes, the team's massive front four helped restrict Buffalo's O. J. Simpson to 18 yards rushing.

"The Vikings are great both offensively and defensively," Cardinals Coach Don Coryell observed. "We're just going to try to do more things to get ready for the season."

7 Cards loss last week to the New York Jets, has drawn the starting role again for St. Louis.

And Coryell said he will open with veterans Ken Willard and Donny Anderson at running back, nothing he expects to use both "quite a bit more than we have."

Tarkenton's last appearance on Busch Stadium AstroTurf was while quarterbacking the New York Giants to a 21-20 victory.

Other members of Minnesota who will be returning to familiar surroudnings are wide receiver John Gilliam and right cornerback Nate Wright. both former Cardinals.

Rookie Greg Hartle, the club's 10th round draft choice, has been selected to start at middle linebacker for the Cards in place of injured veteran Mark Arneson.

Minnesota carries a 1-2 preseason record into the 8:05, EDT, test, while the Cards stand 3-2.

Christopher T. wins Hambletonian

DU QUOIN, Ill. (AP) — Christopher T. won straight heats Friday to capture the 49th Hambletonian Stake and give driver Billy Haughton his first triumph in harness racing's most prestigious event.

Christopher T. won the third heat and the $80,075 winner's purse in 1:58 3-5, a little more than an hour after he won the second race in 1:59 4-5. Nevele Diamond, winner of the first division, held the lead at the halfway mark of the third heat but faltered in the final quartermile and was passed by Stock Split, Anvil, Golden Sovereign and Sing Away Herbert.

The 22 3-year-old trotters were split in two divisions of 11 each for the first and second heats.

Sing Away Herbert went to front early in the final match and Anvil took the lead at the first quarter. After Nevele Diamond faltered, Sing Away Herbert recaptured the lead at the third-quarter mark and Christopher T. made his winning dash in the stretch.

Houghton said, "I really didn't think he had a chance to take it. He hadn't been right...but he finally made it.

Christopher T., a brown colt, raced in Indianapolis last week and failed to qualify for the final heat.

Houghton, 40, capturing his first Hambleton after 14 tries, said after Christopher T.'s effort in Indianapolis, "I'm not so sure if he had been my horse I would have started him."

Nevele Diamond, who fell back to seventh in the final heat, was the second-place winner in the stake, and favored Golden Sovereign, with finishes of second and fourth, was the third-place winner.

The opening 18 holes will be played to qualify for flights only, with everyone starting the second 18 holes even in their flights. The second 18 holes will determine the winners in each flight. Any player may declare himself in a higher flight if he wishes.

Entry fee is $5 in advance and must be paid before the closing date, which has been set for Saturday, Sept. 7. Age limit for the tournament is 16 years and over.

Late summer, fall good time to apply needed limestone

By JOHN GARRETT
Area Agronomy Specialist

BENTON — Grain and fiber crops can use a large amount of nutrients if the soil is adequately supplied with limestone. The payoff for satisfactory fertility is bushels of grain or bales of cotton in Southeast Missouri. A satisfactory lime situation is a basic for productiveness. It's natural for productive soils to require reliming from time to time.

Late summer through the fall is an excellent time to apply needed limestone. Soil conditions are usually best for uniform and fast spreading. Fields are usually in good shape where small grains and silage crops have been harvested, or where pastures and hay fields and others are being prepared for fall seedings.

If you need limestone this year, you will likely find it advantageous to make early arrangements with your lime producers. Delay until late fall and winter often results in disappointment with slow spreading and trucks being stuck because of wet, soggy soils.

Few farms in Southeast Missouri can boast of an excellent lime situation for all fields. Most farms have a few fields which have been adequately limed in the last ten years, but it is rare for all fields to be in top condition. A summary of soil tests in 1972 indicated that seven out of 10 fields need limestone badly.

Limestone costs money just as any other production practice, but delaying the needed applications may be more costly by limiting yields and quality of grain, fiber and forage crops. Use of limestone when needed may easily increase wheat, corn or soybean yields by 8 to 10 bushels per acre, stretch production of pasture and hay crops and increase cotton yields one- fourth base per acre.

Fertilizers, especially nitrogen and phosphates, are more effective in plant nutrition when excessive soil acidity is neutralized by limestone. Phosphate reacts with heavy metalic elements such as aluminum, iron and manganese under acid soil conditions making it unavailable for plant use. Fertilizer is expensive so you can't afford to lose any by fixation in the soil.

Micro- organisms decompose organic residues and soil organic matter most efficiently when the soil pH is approximately 6.0 or above. Commercial nitrogen fertilizers do a better job when the lime situation is satisfactory.

The structure of some soils is improved with liming. Tight soils that run together are often easier to work after liming as a result of improved tilth. Liming acid, clay soils aids in changing the soil structure to a more granular nature.

There is no way to make a good guess as to how much limestone is needed for a field. A poor guess can be costly in either using too little limestone to do a satisfactory job or spending more money for material which isn't needed.

Researcher checks plots

"No -Till" cotton plots are checked by Harold Kerr, weed researcher at the University of Missouri -Columbia's Delta Center near Portageville. The practice, which will save growers $20 to $25 an acre, will be demonstrated Sept. 17 at the Delta Center Field Day near Portageville.

'No-till' cotton will save grower $20-$25 an acre

PORTAGEVILLE --"No -till" cotton is on the way --and it should save growers $20 to $25 per acre, reports Harold Kerr, weed researcher at the University of Missouri - Columbia's Delta Center.

"Our plots look real promising," says Kerr. "We don't use a cultivator at all. And we like the looks of what we have --very well!"

He said the only reason growers don't already have no -till cotton is that Roundup. one of the herbicides needed to make the procedure work, won't be cleared for farm use until 1976. But then, growers will be able to save on fuel, equipment, time and labor by producing cotton the no -till way.

"Really, this is cotton production without cultivation," said Kerr.

"We disc the soil in the fall. Then, in early spring, we bed or hip up before planting the cotton. One difference is that we follow immediately behind the bedder with a bed knocker, or do -all tool and flatten the bed so it will be ready to plant when planting season comes around the first of May.

"Then we allow the vegetation to grow in these beds, and we plant through it with a disc -opener type planter.

"We follow immediately behind the planter with herbicides to kill that green vegetation. We also apply a residual herbicide to control the weeds that have not yet germinated but will be coming up in the summer."

Kerr said his residual herbicides are "old reliables," Cotoran and Karmes. These are combined with Roundup to kill the green vegetation that's on the bed at planting time.

"We may also have to apply a directed post emergence spray of MSMA to clean up small weeds that come on about eight weeks after planting," Kerr added.

Wheat yield data listed

By THOMAS A. BROWN JR.
Area Agronomy Specialist

BLOOMFIELD — Several inquiries from farmers pertaining to wheat varieties to plant this year have already come to the University of Missouri Extension Center in Bloomfield.

Results of wheat variety trials conducted at the University of Missouri Delta Center at Portageville show a comparison of varieties included in the trials during recent years. This yield data might serve as a guide to farmers as to varieties that they want to plant this season.

	Yield, Bu. Per Acre
Variety	1970-73	1972-73
Arthur	45.7	41.4
Stoddard	45.2	33.6
Blueboy II		38.8
McNair 4823		40.3
Coker 68-15		42.5
Abe		35.4
Arthur 71*	41.2	40.1

*Three year average only - 1971-73.

The four- year average yields, 1970-73 will serve as a more dependable guide for the selection of varieties for those varieties included. Two- year average results were also outlined to show yields of newer varieties that have only been in the variety trials for two years.

The 1974 yield data was not included because yield results are not considered as dependable as the data outlined due to the unfavorable season.

Arthur is a high yielding variety with a short, stiff straw, a good test weight and has moderate resistance to leaf rust, stem rust, powdery mildew, loose smut and soil-borne mosaic.

Arthur 71, which was derived from Arthur, has improved resistance to all known races of Hessian fly and the "transfer" type of resistance to leaf rust.

Stoddard is a Stadler x Redcoat cross developed by the University of Missouri. It is a medium height, stiff strawed, disease- resistant variety with high yield potential.

Blueboy II, a relatively new variety derived from Blueboy, is earlier, higher in test weight, more resistant to leaf rust and more winterhardy than Blueboy. It still tends to be a little low in test weight, however.

Abe is an early, stiff strawed variety which has resistance to leaf rust and Hessian fly. Although it has performed well in Northern Missouri, its yields have fallen below Arthur, a parent variety, in Southeast Missouri.

Coker 68-15 is a semi-dwarf commercial variety that is very short and stiff- strawed. It has high yielding ability, high test weight and is resistant to leaf rust and soil- borne mosaic.

McNair 4823 is also a commercial variety which has resistance to leaf rust and some races of stem rust, but is susceptible to some races of mildew.

Additional information pertaining to wheat varieties may be obtained upon request from county University of Missouri Extension Centers.

USDA conducts limited review of crop prospects

WASHINGTON-- Rainfall during the first half of August over much of the plains and corn belt states apparently did not promote significant gains in corn production, although soybeans could benefit form the moisture, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Unusual public interest concerning the potential output of 1974 crops prompted USDA's Statistical Reporting Service to conduct this quick mid -month review.

SRS contacted its field offices in major producing states to determine the effect of precipitation and temperatures since Aug. 1, in relation to normal, particularly for corn and soybeans.

Development since Aug. 1 was also evaluated in terms of stage of maturity and the ability of the plants to respond to more favorable weather.

The review did not include a survey of producers nor visits to sample fields to obtain plant measurement and observations.

The qualitative review indicated that precipitation and temperatures were favorable to sustain the Aug. 1 potential corn production reported by SRS, but that additional rain is needed to replensih depleted soil moisture and supplies and promote production gains of any significant magnitude.

The 1974 crop is generally late developing and any growth stimulated by recent rains must be evaluated in terms of average first killing frost dates.

Soybeans may benefit from the August rains, but any increase output from new growth also will depend on the killing frosts as well as normal precipitation the rest of the growing season.

The next official forecast of production is scheduled to be published in the SRS Crop Production Report on Sept. 11.

'Convincer' is convincing

The Seat Belt Convincer, owned and exhibited by the Missouri Division of Highway Safety, is criss -crossing the state this summer showing "Show -Me" State residents the value of a seat belt and harness. Here, Kent Jesse, a public safety instructor at Central Missouri State University in Warrensburg, prepares St. Louis metropolitan police officer Edward Graves for a demonstration ride. The Convincer was exhibited for the public during the Missouri Stat Fair in Sedalia.

Report says board not using Standards

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) --The state Board of Registration for the Healing Arts has not used standards set by Missouri's legislature to license doctors, a state audit report said today.

After a three -year audit of the agency, state Auditor John Ashcroft, said, "We are only stating that these doctors did not pass an examination whose grading met the requirements of state law."

Missouri law says a candidate for licensing must score at least 75 per cent for each of two parts in a standarized test. In addition, a candidate must score at least 60 per cent on each subject -matter area.

In June, the board dropped its two -part test and adopted a three -part FLEX exam adminstered by the Federation of State Medical Boards.

In February, 1973, it passed a resolution allowing a weighted average of 75 on the entire test regardless of specific section scores as a passing grade. The next month the decision was made retrocative to June, 1972.

"The February and March, 1973, resolutions passed by the board circumvented the statutory requirement," Ashcroft said.

Because FLEX scoring is computed for the entire exam and does not include part or subject matter scores. "It is not possible to determine whether any of the 452 doctors licensed between June, 1972 and December, 1973, met legal requirements,.' Ashcroft said.

"Even if numerical scores on individual subjects in the examination could be considered equivalent to percentages, 206 of these licensed would be of questionable validity," the state auditor noted, because they fall short of either the 60 or 75 per cent requirements.

A survey in the audit report showed 34 of 39 states responding to the survey also used a weighted averate of 75 on the FLEX test as a passing grade.

"These facts support the board's assertions that high standards are being maintained in the licensing of physicians in Missouri," Ashcroft said. "However, they do not justify circumventing the apparent intent of state law."

He recommended that the board comply with present law until the legislature deletes the inflexible requirements.

Four candidates posting substandard scores for the May, 1972 examination — before FLEX was instituted—were licensed in violation of state law and board policy, the report said. An investigation to determine if their licenses should be revoked should be made, Ashcroft concluded. The names were not disclosed.

The 34 selected in the Congressional district caucuses include state Reps. Harold Holliday, D-Kansas City; James Russell, D-Florissant; DeVerne L. Calloway, D-St. Louis; and state Sens. Franklin Payne, DSt. Louis-Raymond Howard, DSt. Louis; and Robert A. Young, D-St. Ann.

Under new Bell rates phone would cost $50

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — It would cost about $50, including a deposit, to obtain a telephone under new rate schedules proposed by Southwestern Bell Telephone.

In a background briefing session here Thursday, R. Ray Shockley, Southwestern Bell vice president, and his aides discussed some increased costs in the company's $52.3 million proposed rate hike that will be heard by the Missouri Public Service Commission in February.

Southwestern Bell will file written testimony next week.

The average phone bills will increase by 15 per cent. Rates were increased an average of 13 per cent in August of 1972 and 8 per cent in October of 1969.

"We're moving to put the burden more on the cost-causer rather than on all users," Shockley said.

The cost of installing a single residential telephone would be increased from $13 to $24. The $24 is broken down as $9 for a new line, $12 for the installation and $3 for the phone.

Installing service with two extensions would cost $30. If a phone already is in the home and an extension is desired, it would cost $15.

A deposit will average from $20 to $25, Shockley said. Company officials did not have figures available on the number of persons charged a deposit. However, many persons are not charged one, they said.

There will be a 5-cent increase in long-distance rates for calls only within the state.

In addition, pay phone costs will go from 10 cents to 20 cents for local calls.

Because of vandalism and theft of phone books, Shockley said, the company loses money on pay phones.

When the pay phone charge was increased from a nickel to a dime in 1952, he said, it cost the company $79 to buy a pay phone. The cost now is $238 for a pay phone.

Pay phone prices have been increased to 15 cents in Washington state and 20 cents in North Carolina.

13 governors summoned for possible violations

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe Friday summoned the governors of 13 states to a Justice Department meeting concerning the legality of lotteries operated by those states.

"Serious questions have risen concerning the legality of the lottery that is being conducted in your state," Saxbe told each governor in a telegram. "There is a distinct possibility that there are violations of the criminal provisions of the federal code."

In the telegram, Saxbe invited the governors to meet with him and other department officials on Sept. 6.

Saxbe said the department is considering a civil suit seeking a permanent injunction against the lotteries unless Congress passes legislation to exempt state lotteries from applicable federal law.

Department lawyers for the past several months have been studying whether state-operated lotteries violate federal statutes prohibiting the purchase or distribution of lottery tickets by mail and prohibiting the distribution of lottery tickets in interstate commerce.

Governors invited to the meeting are Thomas J. Meskill of Connecticut, Sherman W. Tribbitt of Delaware, Daniel Walker of Illinois, Marvin Mandel of Maryland, Kenneth Curtis of Maine, Francis W. Sargent of Massachusetts, William G. Milliken of Michigan, Meldrim Thomson Jr. of New Hampshire, Brendan T. Byrne of New Jersey, Malcolm Wilson of New York, John J. Gilligan of Ohio, Milton J. Shapp of Pennsylvania and Philip W. Noel of Rhode Island.

They'll Do It Every Time

Today in U. S. History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Monday, Sept. 2, the 245th day of 1974. There are 120 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date —

In 31 B.C., Mark Anthony and Cleopatra were defeated by Octavius Caesar in the battle of Actium.

In 1666, the great fire of London broke out. It burned for several days, destroying 13,000 homes.

In 1789, the U.S. Treasury Department was established, with Alexander Hamilton as secretary.

In 1901, Vice President Theodore Roosevelt said in a speech at the Minnesota State Fair: "Speak softly and carry a big stick."

In 1940, the United States transferred 50 destroyers to Britain for a lease of military bases in Newfoundland and the British West Indies.

In 1963, Gov. George Wallace stopped integration at Tuskegee High School in Alabama by encircling the building with state troopers.

Ten years ago: It was announced that Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev would visit West Germany.

Five years ago: Two American prisoners of war released by the North Vietnamese told of brutality at the hands of their captors and of torture of their fellow prisoners.

One year ago: Khmer Rouge insurgents in Cambodia drew government forces into a fiery trap in the second week of fighting for Phnom Penh's highway to the sea.

Today's birthdays: Writer Allan Drury is 56. Dancer Marge Champion is 51.

Thought for today: Women dress alike all over the world. They dress to be annoying to other women — designer Elsa Schiaparelli.

Prayer for today

from the Upper Room

"This is the day which the Lord hath made; we will rejoice and be glad in it." (Psalm 118:24)

PRAYER: Dear Lord, forgive me for acting as if life is a burden. Instead of always coming before You with my problems and complaints, help me to pray freshly. Thank You, God, for letting me live to see this day. Hallelujah! In the name of the Lord Jesus Christ. Amen.

The case of the union appeaser

By JACK STRAUSS, LL.B.

Margie found herself between the devil and the deep blue sea. On the one hand, her religious convictions prohibited her from making any contribution to a labor organization. On the other hand, her employer under his collective bargaining agreement, was required to bounce any employe who didn't pay his union dues.

The result? When Margie decided to go along with her religious convictions, and didn't pay her dues, she was immediately belted from her job on the belt line at Dinkle's factory. Outraged, she sued Mr. Dinkle for having fired her.

"I've got nothing against Margie," pleaded Mr. Dinkle in court, "and I've got nothing against her religion. But, I had no choice. Under my collective bargaining agreement, I had to let her go."

"Nobody has to do anything when it's unconstitutional," was Margie's answer, "and firing a person because of his religious beliefs certainly can't be constitutional It's just that as a businessman, Mr. Dinkle preferred to appease a union than God."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you make the union-appeasing employer pay for firing Margie?

This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that a purely private employer has a common- law right to dismiss at will any employe who has no contrary contract. What's more, concluded the judge, Margie wasn't fired because of her religion. She was fired because she didn't pay her union dues.

(Based upon a 1970 United States District Court Decision)

Teacher of Year to be selected

JEFFERSON CITY — Early this school year, the state's public school districts will select nominees to compete for the honor of being Missouri's Teacher of the Year for 1974-75.

The Missouri Teacher of the Year, selected as the best and most representative of all the state's teachers, from kindergarten through grade 12, will then compete with nominees from the other 49 states for title of National Teacher of the Year.

Missouri's Teacher of the Year for 1973-74 was Louis H. Banker of the Fort Osage School District near Independence.

All local school district nominee applications should be returned to the State Department of Elementary and Secondary Education by Sept. 15. The Department of Education is coordinating the collection of applications, but a statewide committee of professional and lay persons will make the final selection of Missouri's Teacher of the Year.

Base units get new commanders

BLYTHEVILLE, Ark. — Three Blytheville Air Force Base units have new commanders. The units are the 97th Field Maintenance Squadron, 97th Avionics Maintenance Squadron and 97th Airborne Missile Maintenance Squadron.

Heading Field Maintenance is Maj. Bayard E. Foster, who formerly commanded the Airborne Missile Maintenance unit. Most of his 19 years of Air Force Service has been spent in maintenance units.

Lt. Col. Charles D. Anderson commands Avionics Maintenance. He has logged 5,000 hours in Air Force aircraft and was commander of a unit at Ellsworth AFB, S.D., prior to his assignment here.

Lt. Col. Harold F. Beamer, formerly assigned to the 97th Bomb Wing Directorate of Training, commands the Airborne Missile unit. He has spent all of his 18 years of Air Force service in Stragegic Air Command. He has flown in KC-97 and KC-135 aircraft.

Alligator farmer bides his time

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Beady eyes peer from flowercovered pools where Ed Froehlich raises 1,000 alligators and waits for the day when killing them will be legal.

He moves carefully when he's near the hungry gators. He says they would as soon bite off his leg as not.

"I've got all I can do to jump out of the truck, throw them a couple buckets of fish and jump back in again," Froehlich says of the late summer feeding frenzies of the 4-to 12-foot adults.

Froehlich started his alligator farm in 1966 on the assumption the law eventually will change so he can slaughter the reptiles for their leather.

He raises them on part of his 2,500-acre cattle ranch in Palm Beach County and last year pumped $10,000 into the project.

Froehlich, one of the few licensed alligator farmers in Florida, has 15 acres of pens and ponds for the reptiles. He feeds the baby gators every other day with 60 to 80 pounds of chicken necks — skinned, dusted with a vitamin supplement and ground into mush. The grownups get a ton or more of mullet and a few cattle — hide and all — every two weeks.

Froehlich credits the food for his success at alligator farming and reports the hatch of 338 little gators last year. He says, "Gators are like anybody else. They need variety."

In the United States, it's illegal to kill alligators except during tightly controlled hunting seasons in Louisiana. Federal law forbids transportation of alligator skins or products across state lines.

There is no indication the law will be changed soon but Froehlich says changes are inevitable.

"It's a thing that's going to come and I'd like to be on the ground floor," he says. "There isn't anybody closer to nature than me but everything is here for a purpose — to benefit man."

Says Froehlich: "If nature lovers can justify raising cattle for food and leather, why not raise alligators for the same purpose? The leather is beautiful and the meat lean."

Films available to area schools

Alcohol, its personal, social and economic effects on our society, is the subject of the first of the 1974-75 series of Associated Press SPECIAL REPORT filmstrips being made available to area schools by The Daily Standard.

The sound- and - color filmstrip emphasized the use and abuse of alcohol among teen-agers, noting that the number of teen-age alcoholics in the United States is estimated at 450,000, with the number growing daily.

The program, latest in a series of award- winning filmstrips, points to a recent government report which puts the annual economic loss to the nation -- in lost work, medical expenses and motor vehicle accidents -- at $25 billion.

"Alcohol Effects on Society" includes actual interviews with teen-age alcoholics, as well as school and hospital officials who examine the reasons and reality of this major national problem. Authorities involved are asked why teen-agers are turning to alcohol and how the use of alcohol is rated to the use of other drugs. They also discuss varied school and outside programs designed to help problem drinkers, such as Alcholics Anonymous, Alateen and Ala-Non.

Burlison wants no embargo

CAPE GIRARDEAU — "We are fast approaching a situation similar to the summer of 1973 when the administration levied the soybean export embargo," 10th District Rep. Bill D. Burlison stated Thursday night in an address before the Cape Girardeau County Farm Bureau.

He pointed out that under the Export Administration Act, the Secretary of Agriculture must give his approval before the embargo can be carried out. Burlison said he questioned Secretary Earl Butz closely on this issue when the secretary appeared before his Appropriations Subcommittee on Agriculture earlier this year.

Burlison quoted Butz's testimony to the effect that both the beef freeze and soybean embargo were counter- productive and unwise and that he is "vigorously opposing" any further embargoes, related Burlison.

Burlison stated that his intent was to commit Butz, to the fullest extent possible, in opposition to the controls. "In retrospect," concluded Burlison, "It is seen that we see the intense processor and consumer interests pressures again bearing down with demands for an embargo on wheat, corn and soybeans."

Burlison also discussed the presidential veto of the fiscal year 1975 Agriculture Appropriations Bill and other agriculture- related legislative issues.

The first issue of the Arkansas Gazette, oldest newspaper west of the Mississippi River, was published Nov. 20, 1819.

Cystic fibrosis victim, finds family and love

The Daily Standard,
Sikeston, Mo.
Sat. Aug. 31 &
Mon. Sept. 2, 1974
19

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — David Link, a victim of cystic fibrosis, has spent most of his two years shuttling from one foster home to another.

Now the shuttling is over. A couple whose 9-year-old daughter also suffers from the incurable disease has adopted him.

"We could not let him spend his entire life not knowing the love of his own family, not knowing the meaning of Daddy or Mama or other things we take for granted," says Gerry Link, 33, an assistant vice president at a Tallahassee bank.

"Because we have gone with a child with the problem from six months to 9 years old, it was much easier for us to adapt to the problems than for a family who didn't know about them," Link adds.

David was placed in the care of the state after his parents began leaving him at neighbors' homes for long periods of time and refused to buy him food. Last year the parents agreed to put David up for adoption and the Links applied in December.

Their daughter, Bonnie, was six months old when she first began suffering from the hereditary disease, which causes the lungs to fill up with a thick mucus. Sufferers need constant care, a special diet and exercises three times a day.

The life expectancy of a cystic fibrosis victim has increased in recent years from 6 to 20, Link says.

Air base tops conservation goal

BLYTHEVILLE, Ark. — Blytheville Air Force Base has topped its fiscal year 1975 resources conservation (Recon) goal after only seven weeks. Since July 1, base units have submitted cost- cutting ideas totaling over $595,000.

The goal for the base was $620,000, and so far $895,400 has been saved since the beginning of the fiscal year.

Highway department provides aid

JEFFERSON CITY — The Missouri State Highway Department has begun providing a new type of engineering assistance in traffic operation to the cities and counties of the state. The help, which became available the first of this month, is for use at problem locations on streets and highways not maintained by the highway department.

It is being provided by two firms of consulting engineers retained by the State Highway Department and paid for their services from federal funds made available through the Division of Highway Safety.

Robert N. Hunter, chief engineer of the State Highway Department, said, "The cities and counties have for some time now been expressing to us their needs for help in traffic operation and control at problem locations not on the state- maintained highway system, and we're happy to be able to provide this new consulting service to them. It probably will find its most frequent application and offer its greatest help in the smaller communities and rural counties of the state."

Hunter added that the purpose of the new consulting service is to help cities and counties solve specific traffic problems.

Cities and counties interested in obtaining the help of the new service, which will be cost free to them, can do so through their local district office of the State Highway Department.

Now is best time to start new lawn

COLUMBIA — This is the best time to start a new lawn or "green-up" an old one, according to Bill Lobenstein, University of Missouri-Columbia lawn specialist.

"The best seeding dates are between August 20 and Sept. 15 in Mid-Missouri, because the warm days and cool nights are good for germinating cool season grasses like bluegrass and fine fescue," notes Lobenstein. "Figure a week later in the southern part of the state and a week earlier in the northern part."

This is definitely the best time to fertilize a lawn. Properly nourished grass makes a most rapid recovery from summer adversity now. Holes fill in fast, and the grass makes good root growth for next year. Fall is the period when most new plants are formed for next season's turf.

And there are fewer disease problems if you do your major fertilizing now, instead of in the spring.

To make sure fertility levels are up to par, says Lobenstein, get a soil test. These are available at Extension centers or some fertilizer dealers.

In absence of a soil test, Lobenstein has these guidelines:

In the case of a new lawn, figure 15 to 20 pounds of 10-10-10, 12-12-12 or equivalent amounts of similar complete fertilizer per 1,000 sq. ft. of lawn. About half of that fertilizer should be incorporated in the top 3-4 inches of the soil. Keep the other half of the fertilizer to use as a "starter" on top of the grass seed. You may also need to incorporate limestone as you prepare the seedbed. If you haven't any soil tests to guide you, figure 50 pounds of lime per 1,000 square feet.

In case of an established lawn, you'll want to apply a fertilizer with a higher nitrogen content (like 20-5-10). The easiest thing to do, says Lobenstein, is to try to find a good fertilizer buy. Then apply it according to recommendations on the label or at rates which will supply one pound of nitrogen per 1,000 square feet.

If you're putting in a new lawn, recommended seeding rates per 1,000 square feet are as follows: bluegrass varieties or blends, 1 1/2 to 2 pounds; red fescues, 3 to 4; bluegrass-red fescue mixtures, 2 to 3; tall fescue, 7 to 8; rye grasses, 5 to 6.

After seeding, mulching the lawn with a weed-free straw or wood fiber is desirable, says Lobenstein. The mulch helps keep soil from washing and crusting. It also keeps soil moist, so you don't have to water so often.

"After applying mulch, soak the seeded area immediately after planting to a depth of several inches. But soak slowly so it does not cause runoff. After that, sprinkle the lawn enough to keep the surface slightly moist. The best time is mid-day or early in the afternoon.

"After roots are well established, frequent sprinkling should give way to less frequent but deeper watering.

"Without mulch, you may have to water a couple of times a day when seed is germinating, because only a few hours dryness may kill the seedlings."

Then, if everything goes well, it's mowing time.

"The young grass should not be allowed to get so high that it falls over," says Lobenstein, "so don't hesitate to mow the new lawn when it's 2 to 2 1/2 inches high.

"Cut off no more than one-third of the height at each mowing.

"Be sure mower is sharp so it doesn't bruise or pull out tender young plants."

These lawn guides are available (single copies of each are free, from your Extension Center or by writing to Publications, 205 Whitten Hall, University of Missouri-Columbia, Columbia, MO 65201.

Aged mother seeks Medicare

Q. My mother is 84 years old. She's not really sick, but she's going into a nursing home because she has trouble getting around and taking care of herself. Will Medicar help pay for her care?

A. No. Care such as help in walking, dressing, bathing and eating is called custodial care and is not covered under Medicare. Only continuing skilled nursing or rehabilitation services in a skilled nursing facility can be covered by Medicare.

SeMo U. to offer new class

CAPE GIRARDEAU — A new course which will count toward the recertification of vocational teachers will be offered for the first time during the fall semester at Southeast Missouri State University, according to Dr. Bryce March, head of the university's department of industrial and technical education.

The three- semester - hour undergraduate course, Foundations of Vocational Education, is designed primarily for teachers in area vocational- technical schools and instructors of vocational courses in high schools, Dr. March said.

However, beginning vocational teachers are also eligible to enroll, according to the department head.

Registration for the class will be taken on the campus at 6 p.m. Sept. 2, and regular sessions will be held each Monday evening thereafter from 6 to 9.

There is no charge to instructional or administrative personnel who teach or administer approved vocational programs and whose salaries are partially reimbursed from state or federal vocational funds or Manpower Development and Training Act funds.

Individuals who have written proof of employment from a local educational agency to teach or administer an approved vocational program are also exempt from fees if they are to begin work within one calendar year after their initial enrollment.

The charge to other students will be $16 per semester hour or $48 for the three-hour course.

One of the primary purposes of the course, according to Dr. March, is to develop an awareness of the total vocational program. The development of federal, state and local programs will be considered, and attention will also be given to individualizing instruction, the career education movement and innovation in vocational education.

SUTHERLAND, PAVAROTTI ON 'GREAT PERFORMERS'

NEW YORK (AP) — Joan Sutherland and Luciano Pavarotti will give two gala concerts of operatic duets in Avery Fisher Hall as a special tribute to "Great Performers at Lincoln Center," which celebrates its 10th anniversary during the 1974-75 season.

These concerts, Feb. 5 and 9, mark the first time that Miss Sutherland and Pavarotti have appeared together in recital.

Difficult to Get Facts

Mental Health and the Moon

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb — Would you care to comment, in your column, on what may seem a cockeyed subject?

Do medical men, particularly psychiatrists, take any stock in the idea that the phases of the moon have an effect on mentally disturbed people? Our family has such a problem, and one of the — presumably normal — members insists that the full moon has an unfavorable effect on the person concerned.

Dear Reader — There is no evidence that the phases of the moon have any effect on a person's mind or other bodily functions.

The body does function in relation to a large number of rhythms, including the simple day-night cycle. Some of these functions are definitely influenced by the hours of daylight and darkness which, of course, change with seasons. The mating characteristics of some animals and the reproduction of plants are geared to the changes in hours of daylight. Since hormones are involved in reproduction, and hormone production and psychic responses are interrelated, there can be personality changes associated with differences in lengths of the day-night cycle.

It is well known that a woman's personality and moods shift frequently with the stages of her monthly cycle. It is related to the influence of different female hormones produced by the body and, interestingly enough, the production of hormones is related to the rhythmic organization of the brain. These functions are not so easily separated. A woman's brain rhythm pattern is actually organized during fetal development as a result of the female hormones (or absence of male hormone) in the developing body.

Despite the differences in day-night cycle, and difference in seasons, there is no evidence that the moon affects the minds of unstable persons in any way comparable to its effects on ocean tides. Ideas of this sort are all old superstitions. As you mentioned in the rest of your letter, the "believers" tend to notice the "hits" and overlook the "misses."

Most people have a variation in mood throughout the day, with different levels of energy. Others have more clear-cut mood swings from time to time — but these are normal and, within limits of the swing, have no real significance.

There is some indication of cyclic changes in mental disturbances. These are more evident in some instances than in others. After all, the manic depressive cycles are associated with cycles of depression. These vary in length and are influenced by many different factors. I suppose it would be possible, in certain instances, to find some correlation of this with the phases of the moon but this would never withstand scientific or statistical analysis. So there is no way that such information can be used in any way to help a patient with mental or emotional problems.

Radiation in smoke may cause cancer

ST. LOUIS — Tar and nicotine are some of the hazardous substances in tobacco smoke. But not the only ones.

Dr. Edward A. Martell of the National Center for Atmospheric Research says the cancer- causing ingredient in cigarette smoke may be radiation instead of tar. Tiny, radioactive particles become imbedded in a smoker's lungs, he says, and build up over the years until he or she is getting radiation doses that rival those of uranium miners.

In his research, Dr. Martell has discovered that radioactive particles in the atmosphere can collect on the sticky hairs of tobacco leaves. When the hairs burn, radioactive lead is fused into the hair particles. Dr. Martell is attempting to prove that damaged lungs are most likely to collect and hold the radioactive particles, because the lungs' defenses are already deficient.

In a smoker's lungs, Dr. Martell, says thousands of particles gather over the years in tiny clusters. A longtime smoke is still being bombarded with radiation caused by cigarettes smoked years before.

Researchers at the Swiss Institute for Experimental Research have found that the gases in cigarette smoke carbon monoxide, nitrogen dioxide and acrolein -- cause even more damage to lung cells after four days than do the tars. Still another substance in cigarette smoke, a metal called cadmium, is suspected as the chief cause of a crippling lung disease called emphysema.

Scientists are still counting the hazards in cigarette smoke. But there is no controversy about the facts. Cigarette smoking is the chief cause of emphysema, chronic bronchitis, lung cancer and coronary heart disease.

To find out more about the hazards of cigarette smoking and ways to help people quit, contact your lung association. It's a matter of life and breath.

School is vital event in lives of Missourians

JEFFERSON CITY — Summer's glories may linger, but a very important "happening" is about to begin for an estimated 1,066,000 young Missourians who will attend the state's public schools this year.

A few of the state's 572 school districts began classes the week of Aug. 19. An even larger number started the week of Aug. 26, including the Kansas City Public School. The final big push comes the week of September 3 when the remaining school districts open their classrooms for the year.

The enrollment in Missouri's public schools this year will be down about 8,000 from last year, reflecting the downward trend in birth rates over the past few years, according to projections by the State Department of Elementary and Secondary Education.

Approximately 75,000 kindergarteners -- five - year - olds on their way to greatly expanding their world -- will walk down the sidewalk and off to regular school for the first time this year.

Another record year for high school graduates is expected, as an estimated 71,000 young people begin their last year of high school. During the 1973-74 school year, some 62,000 youngsters graduated from the state's public high schools -- the largest graduating class to date.

This is the first year for the state's new high school graduation requirements. Under the new requirements, a student must complete a minimum of 20 units of credit, or the equivalent, in the areas of communication skills, mathematics, science, social studies, fine arts, practical arts, and physical education during grades nine and above. Each student must earn at least six units selected from among the areas of communication skills, social studies, mathematics, and science, with at least one unit in each area of these four areas.

The program a youth follows should be cooperatively planned by the student, his parents and the school to meet the individual needs of the student. The state high school graduation requirements are the minimum standards, the starting point for each district to develop its local graduation requirements.

In this school year, an estimated 8,000 school buses will transport about 650,000 youngsters more than 78 million route miles. Also, before the school year ends, more than 100 million lunches are expected to be served in the public school cafeterias and lunch rooms.

The Department of Education estimates that the state's school districts will employ 30,000 noncertificated persons and 53,000 certificated persons, including 50,000 classroom teachers.

The public schools are expected to spend more than $1 billion on their educational programs (excluding capital outlay and debt service) during 1974-75. This figure represents total expenditures, including local, state and federal funds.

Fall good time to kill weeds

COLUMBIA — "Fall can be a more effective time than spring to kill existing broadleaf weeds like dandelions and plantians," claims Bill Lobenstein, University of Missouri - Columbia lawn specialist.

"You can kill old plants now -- plus any that have started from seeds blown in during summer."

Lobenstein says if you wait until mid-October to apply herbicides, you can kill germinating chickweed and henbit in addition to dandelions and plantains.

He recommends a combination of 2,4-D and Silvex.

"By applying these in mid-October, you weaken weeds so that those which survive the herbicides will be winter- killed," notes Lobenstein. "It's also the best time of the year to avoid damage to surrounding trees and shrubs."

As for crabgrass ... well, it depends on how bad it is.

"If you have heavy crabgrass mats, use a power rake or dethatcher to rip it up," says Lobenstein. "That keeps it from competing with your lawn.

"Most light infestations will be knocked out by killing frost. If you still have a problem, wait until next spring and apply a good pre-emergence herbicide."

Car crashes into truck

Two Illinois residents were killed and one received minor injuries when their car smashed into the rear of a tractor -trailer rig after passing another vehicle on Interstate 55 Friday night. Howard Partridge, 47, of Mundelein and Charles Diedrich, 25, of Waukegan were pronounced dead at the scene. Dennis Holte, 33, of Lombard was treated for cuts at Missouri Delta Community Hospital. Dennis Ray Rash, 22, of Steele, driver of the truck, was not injured. (Daily Standard Photo)

2 killed in crash

Two Illinois residents were killed and six persons were injured in four southeast Missouri traffic accidents Friday.

The highway patrol said Howard Partridge, 47, of Mundelien, Ill. and Charles Diedrich, 25, of Waukegan, Ill. were fatally injured at 8:55 p.m. on Interstate 55, six miles north of Sikeston.

According to the patrol, the southbound car driven by Partridge, passed another car, pulled back into the right hand lane and crashed into the rear of a southbound tractor- trailer truck driven by Dennis Ray Rash, 22, of Steele.

Dennis Holte, 33, of Lombard, Ill., a passenger in the Partridge car, received cuts and bruises and was taken to the Missouri Delta Community Hospital for treatment.

Brenda Sitz, 26, of McGee suffered minor injuries at 1:30 p.m., three miles south of Poplar Bluff on Route 53 when her southbound car struck a pickup truck driven east by Edna Vanderburg, 17, of Poplar Bluff.

According to the patrol, the accident occurred when Miss Vanderburg pulled into the path of Miss Sitz.

A passenger in Miss Sitz's car, Sandra Northern, 21, of East Prairie received minor injuries and was taken to Lucy Lee Hospital at Poplar Bluff for treatment.

Mildred Martin, 58, of Birmingham, Ala. received minor injuries at 2:45 p.m. on Highway 61 in Steele when a northbound tractor-trailer truck driven by Charles Cook, 27, of Zionsville, Ind. struck the rear of his car.

Martin was taken to Pemiscot County Memorial Hospital for treatment.

An accident occurred at 5:30 p.m. on Highway 60 and 144 in Dexter when a southbound car driven by Rita Moser, 25, of Dexter pulled from a service station into the path of an eastbound car driven by John Miller, 69, of Little Rock, Ark.

Joyce Miller, 70, of Little Rock, Ark. and Mary Cunningham, 88, of Cape Girardeau, passengers in Miller's car received minor injuries. Both women were treated at Dexter Memorial Hospital.

Burn victim describes ordeal

The condition of three members of the Harold Clark family continued to improve Friday, according to Jim Hubbard, public relations director of Barnes Hospital in St. Louis.

The family was hospitalized Thursday with extensive burns after their house exploded and burned at 1 o'clock that morning.

Clark, 40, suffered burns over 40 per cent of his body. His wife Jolene, 38, was burned over 20 per cent of her body and their daughter Deborah, 17, was burned over 60 per cent of her body.

The father and daughter had been listed as critical on arrival at the hospital and Mrs. Clark was listed as serious. Their condition improved Friday to the point where they were all listed as satisfactory.

Mrs. Clark told Hubbard that the house was struck by lightning about 9:30 p.m. Wednesday. She said she was sitting under the hair dryer and received a shock which numbed her arm. Her husband returned home briefly until she felt better and then returned to work. He is assistant manager at Liberty's Supermarket.

She said sometime after the family went to bed, her 17- year- old daughter, Deborah, came running into their bedroom yelling "the house is on fire."

Mrs. Clark said she and her husband jumped out of bed to find themselves surrounded by flames. At that point she said, the house exploded and the ceiling and walls began falling in on them.

She told Hubbard the three of them worked their way down a hallway to an outside door in the two-year- old brick and frame home. Mrs. Clark said the door swung open on its own as they approached, and they crawled out onto the lawn to await help.

Wednesday was Clark's 40th birthday.

Fire Chief Larry Linnemeyer said Thursday that lightning struck the television antenna and traveled through a wire under the house. The fire burned into the walls of the home until it was detected by Deborah.

The explosion has been blamed on the fire receiving a sudden supply of oxygen, causing the burning area to explode.

Firemen had thought the explosion may have occurred when the family opened the outside door to escape the fire. But Mrs. Clark's statement rules that possibility out. Her story also rules out statements by neighbors who said the Clarks had been blown out of the house by the explosion.

The Clarks are members of Emmanuel Baptist Church, 600 S. Kingshighway. Mrs. Clark said the pastor, Rev. Ed Stephenson, has been with them in St. Louis every day. She asked for the prayers of Sikeston residents and thanked all for their help.

Hubbard said the burns unit is an intensive care facility and is very costly. "I'm sure any help the Clarks can receive, will be appreciated," he added.

A fund has been set up for the family. Anyone wishing to contribute may mail or bring their donations to Priscilla Holyfield, at the IGA Foodliner, 1045 S. Main St. where the older daughter, Shelly, is a cashier, or take the donations to Liberty Supermarket.

Shelly was away from home at the time of the explosion. She is now with the family in St. Louis.

C'ville bridge bids opened

JEFFERSON CITY — The Missouri Highway Commission opened bids Friday on 18 projects including work on the Mississippi River Bridge at Caruthersville. Total cost of the bids is expected to be about $25 million.

The low bidder for construction of concrete deck and electrical work on the I-155 bridge at Caruthersville was the Hensel Phelps Construction Co. of Greeley, Colo. The company bid $4,500,000.

In Scott and Cape Girardeau counties Route AB, the low bidder for general excavation, culverts, and construction of a concrete pavement was the R. B. Potashnick Co. of Cape Girardeau with a bid of $1,093,951.

Vandalism becoming problem

Vandalism to city street and traffic signs is becoming a very serious problem, City Manager Charles Church said Friday.

Church said the signs are put up for the safety and convenience of everyone.

The vandalism is costing the city $6,000 to $7,000 annually, Church said.

Besides being costly, Church said, many serious traffic conditions are created by the removal of stop and yield signs.

"Cooperation and concern of the taxpayers is needed to eliminate this dangerous practice," Church said.

Food costs back up

August's average food cost in Sikeston was $1.43 more than the calculated cost for July's average food basket, and about 30 cents more than the cost of June's average basket.

The average food basket for 42 selected items cost Sikeston consumers $29.53 in August, compared to $28.10 for the same items in July.

Food basket costs were averaged Thursday afternoon from a survey of six major grocery stores — Sikeston IGA, Safeway, Liberty, S&S Discount, Marks Food Mart and Barkett's Big Star.

As has been the case in past surveys in Sikeston, no store was consistently lower in all food items surveyed.

The largest price increases for individual products was for three pounds of shortening, which rose an average of 30 cents in price, or 27 per cent, over the average price a month ago. Another large increase occurred in the price of instant tea which showed a 24- cent increase, or 19 per cent jump, over the cost a month ago. (Tea the previous month had showed a 23- cent drop.)

Most fresh vegetable prices remained steady or even fell in price, except for tomatoes which experienced a price increase of 26 cents over a month ago — a whopping 123 per cent increase over the previous month.

Meat prices remained fairly steady, with only a few cents difference over the past month. The largest change in cuts of meat surveyed was for round steak, which fell 10 cents a pound, a seven per cent decrease over a month ago.

In the dairy counter, eggs and margarine both showed a 12- cent increase over last month, about a 20 per cent increase for both products.

Staple foods also showed some of the greatest increases. Sugar was up 21 cents, or 12.5 per cent, while Miracle Whip salad dressing was up 15 cents and 14 per cent. Vegetable oil continued to rise and showed an increase of 12 cents per 24 ounces, or 10 per cent.

The largest drop in price was experiended for a 17-ounce can of fruit cocktail which dropped 20 cents (29 per cent). The product had risen 25 cents when the Aug. 1 survey was taken.

Turn to Page 6 — for a table of prices for products surveyed.

Hospital to begin ambulance service

Missouri Delta Community Hospital will begin operating an ambulance service at 8 a.m. Tuesday, Harold Jones, hospital administrator, said Friday.

The hospital will use the ambulance now being used by Welsh Funeral Home. Welsh is no longer operating an ambulance service because it cannot meet state law requiring a trained attendant in the back of the ambulance and additional emergency equipment.

Jones said the hospital will use Welsh's ambulance until ambulances being provided by the state are delivered. The first is not expected to arrive for several weeks.

The ambulance will be radio equipped to keep it in contact with the hospital. Emergency equipment will be added and trained emergency medical technicians will staff the vehicle, Jones said.

Jones said the ambulance

LABOR AND THE ECONOMY

Heavy thinking about the economy is probably the last thing most Americans will want to indulge in as they enjoy this holiday.

Price increases, the skyrocketing cost of food, taxes, lagging stock market — all these are worries we would like to forget, if only for one day.

But the name of the day is, after all, Labor Day, and though it was originally set aside to honor the blue- collar working man, it is upon the labor of all of us that strength and health of the economy are based, whether we work in shop or office or on the land.

The problems and needs of "labor" are thus the problems and needs of the whole nation.

While we are not, fortunately, involved at the moment in widespread labor- management discord, it is not for lack of grievances. Labor has made it plain that it feels the working man suffers most from accelerating inflation and was helped least by the previous administration's halfhearted measures to control same. It has given fair notice of intention to press for early adjustment.

Management can respond by either granting unusually large wage increases to preserve industrial peace or by resisting and thereby courting work stoppages.

Either way, we stand to lose. The first response would further fuel inflation, the second would further hobble already limping production.

Does this mean, then that at such a time of economic imbalance free bargaining between employe and employer no longer suffices? Should the government take a more active role? Do we need something like a Court of Labor- Management Relations whose decision in each dispute would be binding on all parties?

There are those who argue strongly that government should avoid direct involvement in labor - management relationships. Yet it must be accepted that today, labor- management settlements can not be made in isolation from the rest of the economy. It is only government whose responsibilities and powers encompass the entire economy. And it is government whose policies have the greatest impact on that economy.

It is one thing when government speeds up a lagging economy through deficit spending, as it has demonstrated it can do quite handily.

But when that speed becomes too great, when prices soar and buying power shrinks, can government stand aside and let economic nature take its course? It is a question that must be answered.

It is not only encouraging that President Ford has given the economy priority in the attention of his administration. It is essential..

OH, TO BE A SWINGER

It's very hard for many college students to live up to the roles they have been given by the mass media. What newspapers, magazines and television networks expect from students is more than most of them can deliver. I discovered this when I was speaking at a Midwestern campus not long ago.

A student, whom I shall call Ronald Hoffman, seemed very troubled and I asked him what the problem was.

"My parents are coming up next week, and I don't know what to do.

"Well, you see, I told them I was living off campus with this coed in an apartment. But the tuuth is that I'm living in the dormitory."

"That shouldn't really disturb them."

"Oh, but it will. They're very proud of me, and they think I should have a mind of my own. When my dad heard I was living off campus with a coed, he doubled my allowance because, as he put it, 'Anyone who is willing to spit in the eye of conformity deserves his father's support.' I don't know what he's going to say when he finds out I used the money to buy books."

"It'll hurt him," I agreed. "What will your mother say?"

"I don't know. She's been crying a lot since I wrote her about living with this coed, and Dad's been arguing with her that her trouble is she doesn't understand youth. Mom's likely to get pretty sore when she discovers she's been crying for nothing."

"Not to mention how silly your father will look for making her cry."

Ronald shook his head sadly. "The trouble with parents these days is they believe everything they read. Newsweek magazine, in a 'Sex on the Campus' article, made it sound so easy to find a coed to live with. Well, let me tell you, for every girl who's playing house with a male student, there are a million coeds who won't even do the dishes."

"Then all this talk of students living out of wedlock is exaggerated?"

"Exaggerated? When I got here, I asked 10 girls if they wanted to live with me. The first one said she didn't come to college to iron shirts for the wrong guy, four told me frankly that it would hurt their chances of finding a husband, four told me to drop dead and one reported me to the campus police. I was lucky to get a room in the dormitory."

"You can say that again. Every time I go home, everybody wants to know about the pot parties and orgies I go to at school. The only thing that's saved me is that I've seen 'Deep Throat' twice."

"You have to depend on your imagination."

"What college boy doesn't?" Ronald said. "There are more conscientious objectors among coeds in the sexual revolution than any modern sociologist would dare admit."

"It's enough to destroy your faith in Hugh Hefner," I said.

"Look, I'm not complaining," Ronald said. "I'm just trying to figure out how to explain it to my father. He's living his fantasies through me, and I hate to let him down."

"Why don't you tell him the reason you can't introduce the coed you're living with is that she's going to have a baby?"

"Hey," Ronald said, "that's a great idea. It might cause Mom to cry again, but it will make Dad awfully proud."

WE NEED TO TAKE A LOOK AT LEGAL SERVICES BILL

In debating the Legal Services Corporation proposal recently, Sen. Jesse Helms (R.-N.C.) scored virtually all aspects of the measure. Far from being a device aimed at helping the poor, said Helms, the Corporation measure, which abolishes the current weak safeguards against activist abuse, even to the extent of completely removing the partial veto now given to the governors over legal services projects, is actually a device to promote radicalism.

Since most of us are not aware of the political play in Washington, we believe the following excerpts from remarks made by Sen. Helms will be enlightening:

"As one who believes in limited federal intervention in our lives, I would prefer a situation in which it were not necessary to place any restrictions on legal service attorneys. Indeed, I would oppose any such restrictions on attorneys in private practice, relying instead on the ability of the individual client to serve his own interest in choosing or discarding lawyers as might seem appropriate. Unfortunately, HR 7824 would preserve the unfair and trouble- causing practice which has grown up at OEO of denying the poor the equal chance to hire and fire their own attorneys. Instead, if they are lucky enough to be chosen as a client, they are stuck with whichever staff attorney is assigned to represent them.

"Do we want legal services attorneys to represent persons under the age of 18 without the consent of their parents? Such would be sanctioned under HR 7824.

"Do we want to freeze-in the existing control of many legal services programs by such groups as the American Civil Liberties Union and the National Lawyers Guild and the National Welfare Rights Organization? HR 7824 would to that.

"Do we wish to permit funding of public interest law firms, which use the courts to achieve changes in public policy along lines favored by those who control such firms? Such funding is permitted under HR 7824.

"Do we wish to prevent state and local governments from providing legal services under this act, except to supplement programs controlled by private organizations? HR 7824 includes that restriction.

"Do we wish to require a trial- type hearing before any private group funded to deliver legal services may be replaced by another? HR 7824 makes it virtually impossible not to renew funding for a particular organization once it has been granted.

"Shall we permit legal aid lawyers to represent and assist private groups which act in the name of the poor -- groups like the American Indian Movement and Berkeley Anti-Police Youth Coalition or the National Tenants Organization? HR 7824 concedes such permission.

"Shall we permit staff attorneys to aid boycotts, strikes, picketing, ballot referendums, or other activities in support of causes they personally prefer? HR 7824 permits it.

"Do we want taxpayers - subsidized vehicle, office equipment, and resources to be placed at the disposal of groups and individuals favored by local staff attorneys? HR 7824 permits it.

"Do we want taxpayer- subsidized attorneys and support staff to be engaged in legislative and administrative lobbying, the drafting of legislation and regulation, or the rendering of staff support to favored legislators and favored causes? HR 7824 permits it, whenever doing in the name of a client, or by the request of a single legislator, or bureaucrat -- depending on whether it involved legislative or administrative rulemaking.

"Do we want legal services for the poor to be a driving forces in the organization of prisoners and mobilization of inmate dissent? Such is authorized by law under HR 7824, whereas at OEO it has simply been a matter of practice on which the law has been silent."

So while the President and Congress keep talking about cutting the federal budget, it seems they are close to creating a new bureaucracy that will add millions of dollars in federal funds to causes and organizations supported by George McGovern in 1972 and against which millions of Americans voted.

MAKE THEM EARN IT

Week after week the Democrat receives complaints from its subscribers about not getting the paper. We fear most of them think it is the fault of our mailing department. As an example, Walter Rash, who lives in Oklahoma, missed four straight issues in July and August. His plate in the mailing machine showed exactly the same address his letter of complaint did. The only thing we could do was to give it to the postmaster. As a boy we didn't have nearly so much trouble with our letters bearing a 2-cent stamp, nor with the newspaper which circulated at a fraction of its present cost.

ARE SHORT ON
SOME THINGS, TOO

States which produce petroleum and natural gas beyond their current needs are victims of a kind of discrimination. Northeastern states exercise their political power to, in effect, confiscate the resources of other states.

If all the 49 other states ganged up on New York and used their political power to "allocate," for example, capital funds, of which New York has a major share, the citizens of New York would get a taste of what is being done to other states.

Control and ownership of capital funds is centered in New York City. Every state suffers a shortage of capital. So it would seem just as fair to "allocate" Louisiana's natural gas. Louisiana is forced, along with other gas and oil producing states, to give up resources -- and at controlled prices far below world market value.

So, Louisiana citizens might ask, why cannot New York capital be "allocated" to Louisiana citizens at, say, one percent interest if Louisiana natural gas is going to be "allocated" to New York citizens at a tenth of its value?

Louisiana also needs Pittsburg's steel to drill for oil and gas, so steel could be "allocated" to Louisiana at, say, $30 per ton rather than $300.

Actually, it is not just Louisiana that suffers this discrimination. Citizens of a half- dozen states suffer tremendously and those of another two dozen are damaged to a lesser extent. It is past time to halt this discrimination. HLH

Washington-Merry-Go-Round

JACK ANDERSON and LES WHITTEN SAYS:

Eastland and Pot

WASHINGTON — James Eastland of Sunflower County, Miss., one of the Senate's crustiest conservatives, is walking proof that an old dog can learn new tricks.

The veteran Judiciary Committee chairman is working quietly to relax marijuana laws so young students and workers and other "pot" smokers will not be jailed for simple possession of the drug.

Eastland, whose closest contact with drugs is a good cigar and a tot of whiskey, has become convinced that jailing those caught with a few "joints" is not the way to stop marijuana traffic.

The contumacious senator underwent his metamorphosis after his old friend, ex- Marine Commandant Lewis Walt, conducted a world survey on drugs for Eastland's Senate Internal Security subcommittee.

After talking earnestly with Walt and listening to dozens of witnesses at various hearings, the senator came to the concludions that "pot" may cause genetic, brain, lung and other damage. He also decided that traffickers still deserve stiff penalties and that even possession should not be completely "decriminalized."

But the possibility of a year in jail and a $5,000 fine for a youth caught by federal agents with a single marijuana cigarette is excessive in Eastland's view. As a result, his Internal Security staff is conferring regularly with the Drug Enforcement Agency on possible legislation. Shortly after Labor Day, Senate staffers will meet with DEA's legal office to hammer out a formal draft.

Eastland has not made up his mind entirely, but he is toying with the idea of setting a fine for a first "possession" offense, and explicitly banning jail. A second offense would bring a stiffer fine.

Since state laws tend to follow federal statutes, and since Eastland's judiciary committee writes federal laws, it may be that a whole generation of marijuana dabblers will praise Jim Eastland's name.

Footnote: On Eastland's Mississippi plantation, state narcotics agents found a marijuana patch near the Sunflower River. The seantor cooperated in a stake- out, but the "pot" planters, who had been harvesting by boat apparently learned of the surveillance and abandoned the crop.

Natural Gas: In letters to many newspapers, the American Petroleum Institute (API), whose members own much of the nation's natural gas, cites numerous figures to try to disprove our disclosures that Big Oil is driving up natural gas prices with faked figures.

It is worth noting that we sent our own figures to the API statisticians before we wrote our story. The API did not quibble with them then, and does not now in its letter. In fact, the API ignores the crucial figures.

To repeat them: Big Oil reported exploratory natural gas strikes from 7.9 to 9.4 per cent of the time off Louisiana until 1972 when they began to connive for price increases. Then, mysteriously, the strikes dropped to 2.4 per cent in 1972 and to a mere one per cent in 1973. This allowed the oil companies to demand more consumer money, supposedly so they could carry out more exploration.

It is small wonder that Federal Power Commission experts told us they had "never seen such a gross aberration" and the Senate Commerce Committee staff suggest the oil companies are "simply lying" in order to get more money.

A few other figures are glaringly omitted from the API letter: Some of its members with natural gas holdings report profit increases in excess of 100 per cent since the energy crisis began. Such profits are possible because gasoline and natural gas prices are up from 60 to 100 per cent and likely to climb still higher.

Critical Punishment: The federal judges in Baltimore who stepped aside in the Agnew case to avoid any possible charges of cronyism have nevertheless tried to punish one of Agnew's most vocal critics.

The target of their unsuccessful action was John Banzhaf III, a prominent consumer advocate and law professor in Washington. The Baltimore judges were incensed because Banzhaf had announced in a press release that he had filed suit to block then- Vice President Agnew from subpoenaing reporters and to force appointment of a special Agnew prosecutor.

One of the ringleaders in the unusual effort to punish Banahaf was Federal Judge C. Stanley- Blair, an Agnew pal and aide who was given a lifetime judgeship by President Nixon at Agnew's bidding. The other was Judge Herbert Murray, personally cleared for his job in 1971 after a 30- minute interview with Agnew.

Claiming Banzhaf was in "apparent violation of the Code of Professional Responsibility," the Baltimore judges urged legal disciplinary authorities in Washington to investigate Banzhaf. After much waffling the Washington disciplinary unit threw the judges' request out.

Book Picks: "The Palace Guard" by CBS newsmen Dan Rather and Gary Paul Gates expertly catches the piranha quality of the Nixon White House. There, H. R. Haldeman manipulates Spiro Agnew, John Ehrlichman sneers at honorable men like Bob Finch as "the Pasadena Hamlet" and Pat Moynihan as "our Oscar Wilde," and a Secret Service man loathingly confides that "We say ... come the revolution, be sure and save two bullets: one for Haldeman and one for Ehrlichman."

"The Politician Primeval," by Hubert Humphrey's doctor and advisor, Dr. Edgar Berman, is so outrageously candid about the press and politicians that the book took three months to clear the libel lawyers. Still, Berman omits one of his most ribald true tales: the names of the famed reporters who, on the way home from an Asian tour with Humphrey, had to be shot with mamassive doses of penicillin because they pursued Asian pleasures more zealously than they did news stories.

Caesar's Ghost: The Strange Case of Rebozo's Check Cashing

NEW YORK — And there I was at my favorite Viennese sidewalk cafe tenderly savoring a Sacher torte when my Austrian friend asks if I had known that an American, Charles Rebozo, had slipped in and out of Dick Nixon's overnight castle in Salzburg not too long ago. When I returned to my hotel I dug into some documents accumulating for analysis when I could get to them and dug up references to the squire of Key Biscayne -- Bebe Rebozo.

Suddenly it made amazing reading. Bebe Rebozo, who was so close to an American President, also appears close to some strange fellows. Mighty strange. And dealt with even stranger ones without name checking them or their backgrounds.

There is a chap, Louis Pasquale Mastriana, now serving an 8- year prison term who had a $115,000 check he wanted cashed some years ago.

As Mastriana described it in sworn testimony, he began to make contacts. Eventually the check was cashed with Bebe Rebozo's approval in the latter's Key Biscayne Bank. Rebozo didn't know that Mastiana was a mob money mover, a self- confessed pusher of stolen securities and fraudulent stock, a former numbers runner for Jimmy Blue Eyes Alo of the Genovese hooddom; a friend of men who represented the so- called Mafia families of Carlo Gambino, Angelo Bruno and the Magaddinos and other such assorted muscle dispensers.

Rebozo didn't know that the $115,000 check issued by a respectable brokerage house, F. I. duPont, covered part of a sale of securities stolen from the mails at Kennedy Airport.

All Rebozo knew was that a friend had telephoned him to say a man by the name of Mastriana had the paper and needed the cash. Rebozo obviously said tell him to come in. Mastriana did.

The hood, now serving time, came and walked out with a partial payment of $18,000 in cash. He returned for the rest. Rebozo, knowing full well of his own influential status in the national community should have checked. He didn't. But he took Mastriana's word that the latter was in the labor and public relations business. Mastriana sure was.

The thug was an acknowledged leg breaker, a shakedown artist, a peddler of violence and labor peace in Florida. He had something he called the "L and M Associates."

Rebozo never checked. Mastriana himself wondered why, I'm told. Actually Mastriana, who grew from a bum in the Bronx to a big time international stolen securities operative, said under oath what appears to be quite contemptuous of Rebozo -- "I understand he would take a hot stove, too, if you gave it to him."

And though Bebe Rebozo didn't know anything about Mastriana's background except that he was carrying an inconvenient $115,000 check, the banker asked the hood if he could get some union funds into his bank. There is no evidence to show that Rebozo asked what unions Mastriana represented. Nor for whom the self- confessed Mafia money man did public relation.

For a man in Rebozo's position as a banker and man around many towns, this was mighty careless.

How did Mastriana get to Rebozo? Well the sworn testimony says that Mastriana knew a fellow by name of Joey Biancano, who went to prison with the former Newark Mayor Hugh Addonizio. Actually "Joey B" has some other grim associations.

Now, there is no real evidence that Mastriana's background was known to a chap by name of Frank Petrucci who comes into this tale as the Florida man who telephoned Rebozo and asked him to see Mastriana.

Here's the sequence as Mastriana swore to it during a Senate hearing: the stolen securities pusher made contact with Biancano who allegedly made contact with Petrucci who then made the phone call to his good friend Rebozo.

So grateful was Mastriana that he took $10,000 out of the cash he got at the Key Biscayne Bank and lent it to Petrucci. Mastriana said he had a receipt for the loan.

Of course, Rebozo depended on Petrucci with whom Mastriana says the banker did a lot of business. But it's all very strange banking practice. A man walks in off the street with a six- figure check and gets it cashed. Why not hold it a few days and check it all out?

Now this case is not to be confused with any other. The Justice Department had done a thorough investigation of another case and there's no -- repeat no -- evidence that in any instance Rebozo knew of any stolen securities. But Rebozo, as a man who has ridden cheek by jowl with the world's most powerful national executive, owes his friend, his country, and a lot of other people a full explanation of this strange Mastriana episode.

There are reports that special Watergate Prosecutor Jaworski's sleuths are interested in Rebozo, Caesar's friend. In Caesar, too, who may find he did himself in more brutally than he believed by his own hand.

Promoter admits drugs at music festival

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Robert Shaw, Kansas City advertising executive and one of the principal promoters, acknowledged Friday that the use and sale of drugs was widespread at the Ozark Music Festival.

Shaw testified for more than 2½ hours before a special committee of the Missouri Senate which is investigating the rock festival, held at the state fairgrounds at Sedalia on July 19, 20 and 21.

At its peak, the crowd was estimated unofficially at 150,000. It left the fairgrounds a mess of wreckage, litter and excrement. Hundreds were treated for overdoses of drugs and one victim died.

Shaw testified Friday that the corporation organized to sponsor the festival, Musi Productions, Inc., spent more than $100,000 to advertise it.

State Sen. Richard Webster, R-Carthage, so-chairman of the special investigating committee, asked Shaw to read off a list of radio stations which carried advertising spots.

Besides Missouri, they were in Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas, Arkansas, Tennessee, Kentucky, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa and Nebraska.

Webster said the attraction had been represented to state officials as a blue grass or soft rock music festival.

"Was it blue grass and soft rock, or was it hard rock and acid rock?" Sen. Webster asked Shaw.

"Did you in fact have any blue grass performers — and remember you're talking to someone who was raised on blue grass music?"

"Well, Earl Scruggs I think would be considered blue grass."

"No, not by a real connoisseur he wouldn't," Webster said.

"Sir," Shaw sai, "you're asking me to define types of music, and I don't think Im prepared to do that."

Sen. Webster noted that most of the radio advertising spots for the festival were done by Wolfman Jack, a national star who had a syndicated rock music show.

"Who prepared the Wolfman Jack copy?" Sen. Webster asked.

"Our copy writers," Shaw replied.

"Did that include the statement: 'We're going to spend three days on grass.'?"

"In all fairness, he does have a tendency to personalize his spots."

"Did you audit the tapes to see if he followed your copy?"

"Yes."

"In other words, you were satisfied he had followed your copy closely enough?"

"Well, it would have been poor to say: 'We're going to spend three days on the asphalt or the cement.'"

Under questioning by State Sen. Lem T. Jones, R-Kansas City, Shaw said Music Productions, Inc., had agreed with the state to limit ticket sales to 50,000.

When Webster took up the point, Shaw acknowledged that the sales of $15 advance tickets was cut off at 50,000 but then $20 admissions were sold. It was not disclosed how many were sold.

Shaw said it became impossible to keep those who did not have tickets out of the fairgrounds. Holes were cut in fences, and cars and trucks were driven through, he said.

The other cochairman of the committee, Sen. Ike Skelton, DLexington, asked Shaw about a news release issued by the promoters on April 19 which said security at the festival would be under the direction of the Pettis County sheriff at Sedalia, Emmett W. Fairfax. Fairfax testified at an earlier session that he not direct security and had not agreed to.

Shaw said it was his understanding that Music Productions, Inc., had a contingency agreement with Fairfax.

"But the news release flatly states that the sheriff would supervise security," Sen. Skelton said. "It says nothing about any contingency agreement. Isn't that ture?"

"Yes," Shaw said.

Wells Fargo Security Guard Service provided 300 guards for the music festival; and another of Friday's witnesses was Ronald P. Mealey, attorney for Baker Industries, Inc., parent company of Wells Fargo.

He said the 300 guards employed by Wells Fargo worked 12-hour shifts. An earlier witness for Wells Fargo testified the size of the crowd called for 900 guards instead of 300.

Guard truck collides with car; no injury

No one was injured Friday when a National Guard truck driven by Carl Thomas Joyce, 46, of 504 Benton St., collided with a car driven by Mrs. Linda Arnold, 20, of 209 Gladys.

Joyce had just returned from two weeks at Camp Riley, Kans. with Sikeston Company C of the 1140th Engineer Battalion of the National Guard.

The accident occurred at 6:12 p.m. when Mrs. Arnold, traveling north on South Main St., attempted to change from the inside lane to the outside lane and turn onto Matthews St. The National Guard truck collided with the Arnold car when Joyce, also northbound on South Main, made a right turn onto Matthews St. from the outside lane of South Main.

Bond says tax hike could come if vetoes nixed

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — In a letter to Missouri lawmakers Friday, Gov. Christopher S. Bond said a tax increase could result if the legislature overturns his vetoes of major spending programs next week.

The legislature begins a veto session Wednesday. It can't last longer than 10 days, and legislative leaders are hoping to finish in three days.

To override a veto, it takes a two-thirds vote in both houses— 23 votes in the Senate and 109 in the House. Democrats hold 21-13 advantage in the Senate and a 99-64 advantage in the House.

The president pro tem of the Senate, Democrat William J. Cason of Clinton, said he would push for veto overrides on bills to increase state aid to junior colleges and to increase by $3 a month the Aid to Dependent Children.

Cason also criticized Bond's veto of $3.5 million from the higher education budget, including $1.4 million from the University of Missouri and $893,000 from Lincoln University's budget.

"We will do all we can to reset the priorities and override his veto" on the junior college bill, Cason said. State aid would have been increased from $400 per semester hour taught by a college to $525 per semester hour.

Also vetoed was a bill hiking judges' pay by an average of $3,500 annually.

Bond's vetoes chopped over $6 million from appropriations and cut out new programs which would cost $7.4 million a year.

The session opens in the Senate at 10 a.m. Wednesday. At 2 p.m., a portrait of former Gov. Warren E. Hearnes will be unveiled and placed in the Capitol rotunda.

The portrait was painted in 1965 by former St. Louis Cardinals baseball star Curt Flood, and has been reproduced and enlarged.

The House will open its veto session at 4 p.m. Wednesday.

"If we cannot control spending, a tax increase will necessarily follow," Bond said.

He said estimates by his staff show the state had a balance of $77.2 million on July 1, almost $20 million less than a year ago.

He said the balance will be reduced, at the current rate of spending, to $26.3 million by July 1, 1975.

In the present fiscal year, Bond said, the state will spend about $50 million more than it takes in.

"Besides the pressure that new programs have had on the state's surplus, inflation and greatly increased fuel costs also will add to the fiscal problems in the current year," Bond said.

"The state's employes have been falling behind in pay. We estimate that a modest increase just to keep salaries and operations at reasonable levels will require about $43 million in additional appropriations during fiscal year 1976."

Meany asks Ford to drop Nixon economic policies

WASHINGTON (AP) — AFLCIO President George Meany called on President Ford in a Labor Day message Friday to abandon the economic policies of the Nixon administration and look for new humanitarian ways to curb inflation.

In a generally pessimistic annual statement, Meany said, "All across America, families have been forced to abandon efforts to improve the 'quality of life' in favor of just survival."

Apart from a general suggestion that the President lower interest rates, Meany offered no specific ideas on how to blunt the rapidly increasing cost of living.

The 80-year-old labor leader said American families are barely "making do" in filling basic needs like food, housing and health care.

"Some might say that these hardships visited on the American people are their share in a national sacrifice to defeat inflation," he said.

But corporate profits have risen steadily, Meany said, including 28 per cent in the second quarter of 1974, a higher rate than two years of steady inflation.

"This is not sacrifice," he said. "This is greed."

"Inflation, unemployment — these are people problems and they call out for humanitarian solutions," he said.

"Until now, the government has treated the problems as mathematic equations. It is our hope the new President will see more than just cold, cruel numbers — that he'll see people, not percentages, and that he will move with compassion."

Tired but home from camp

Missouri is ninth in tax collection

WASHINGTON (AP) — Missouri ranks ninth among the 50 states in per-capita collection of federal income and employment taxes but 47th last year in the amount per person it receives back through revenuesharing, Rep. Jerry Litton, DMo., said Friday.

Litton said he has been studying how the state fares under revenue-sharing in comparision with others for a year, with the aid of the General Accounting Office, Congress' watchdog agency.

Missouri was 47th this year in per-capita redistribution of the revenue-sharing funds, he said.

Litton's study showed Delaware paying the highest income and employment taxes per person, at $2.321, and Mississippi the least, at $476. Missouri paid $1.417 per person.

But the last, Mississippi, became first when it came to revenue-sharing, with that state receiving $61.92 per person. Missouri received $32.77 per person and Ohio, 50th, received $30.98.

Using another indicator, Litton said he calculated revenuesharing payments as a percentage of taxes. Mississippi again came out on top, with its revenue-sharing money equal to 13 per cent of taxes paid.

Missouri was 44th with 2.31 per cent and Connecticut brought up the bottom with 1.79 per cent.

After 30 months of revenuesharing, Litton said, only Florida, Alaska and Ohio received less per person than Missouri.

"As you can see, Missourians are doing more paying than receiving when it comes to getting money back from their federal taxes in the form of revenue-sharing than most other citizens," Litton said.

Farm prices up 3 per cent

WASHINGTON (AP) — Prices of raw farm products rose 3 per cent from July 15 to Aug. 15 but was still 13 per cent below the all-time record level set a year ago, the Agriculture Department said Friday.

The department's Crop Reporting Board said higher prices for corn, soybeans, cattle, hogs, wheat and eggs accounted for most of the increase.

Lower prices for potatoes lettuce, calves and apples helped soften the monthly rise in the index, officials said.

Administration officials have warned that consumer food prices will be going up the remainder of this year more than expected.

will be available for emergency work but not for transprotation type pickups. He said there is only one ambulance and it would be too expensive for the hospital.

The ambulance fee will be a minimum $25 per trip, Jones said.

Jones said that beginning Tuesday, anyone needing an ambulance may call 471-7000 or 471-7001.

The hospital ambulance will serve Sikeston and the southern half of Scott County and the northern half of New Madrid County. Beginning Sept. 1 people in the northern half of Scott County will be served by the Roush Ambulance Co. of Cape Girardeau.

The service will run through Jan. 1 when the county expects to have ambulances available.

People needing an ambulance in that area may call the Scott County Sheriff's office in Benton at 545-3525.

In a candlelight ceremony

Miss Needham weds Deane

ST. LOUIS — Southwest Baptist Church was the setting Aug. 3 for the candlelight ceremony uniting Miss Dorothy Louise Needham and William H. Deane IV in marriage.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Frances Louise Needham of St. Louis and the late Malcolm L. Needham. Deane is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Deane III of 607 Elm St., Sikeston. Grandparents are Mrs. S. N. Ping of St. Louis, Mr. and Mrs. William Dean Jr. of Sikeston Route One and Mr. and Mrs. Champ Bomer of 618 Taylor St., Sikeston.

The aisle was decorated with single taper candelabra and white streamers entwined with ivy at every other pew. Two matching tiered candelabra holding 15 tapers each and greenery were at the altar. A unity candle adorned the center of the altar and was lit jointly by the bride and groom at the end of the ceremony.

Prenuptial organ music was played by Mrs. J. Edwin Hewlett of St. Louis. She accompanied Mrs. Petty Bay of St. Louis as she sang, "I Love Thee" and "The Lord's Prayer", during the ceremony. Greg Shiner of St. Louis sang, "Colour My World" and "Alma Mater", accompanied by Bob Kilzer of St. Louis on the piano, and sang, "Follow Me" and "The Wedding Song", accompanied by Chuck Hanna of Illmo on the guitar.

The bride was given in marriage by her cousin, J. Richard Dancaster of Des Plains, Ill. She chose a pure white, mira mist, organza gown fashioned in an empire silhouette, high neckline and long, full, shepherdess sleeves.

Motifs of Venise lace and appliques of Alencon lace floral motifs were placed on the bodice, neckline and topped the sleeves. Motifs also were used through the sleeve and outlined the ruffled cuff. Lace topped the deep flounce that bordered the hemline all around, and the tiny Venise lace edged the border that extended all around and into a full sweep train.

A matching lace Camelot headpiece with pearls was secured to a long veil outlined with matching lace and lace motifs through the veil. The veil fell to the sweep of the bridal train. Her only jewelry was a set of pearl earrings, a gift from the groom.

She carried a bouquet of snowdrift, baby's breath, cymbidium orchids, pink roses, pastel daisies and carnations. Long streamers with love knots complimented the bouquet.

Mrs. Bonnie Hanna of Illmo served as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Miriam Caldwell, Miss Diane Vader and Miss Shirley Leong of St. Louis; Mrs. Anita Harrison of Belleville, Ill., sister of the bride; Miss Sheila O'Brian of Fairview Heights, Ill.; and Mrs. Buena House of Bonne Terre.

Their dresses were of sheer, pink, floral print organza over pink dacron. The gowns featured a full skirt with a deep ruffle and full sleeves with fitted cuffs. The girls wore matching picture hats and carried baskets of purple daisies and baby's breath with matching bow and long streamers with love knots.

Misses Laurie and Lisa Deane, sisters of the groom, were candlelightes. Their dresses were designed like those worn by the bridesmaids in an orchid floral print organza over orchid dacron. They carried a pink daisy and baby's breath nosegay with a pink taper candle in the center.

Mark Deane of Sikeston, a brother of the groom, was best man. Groomsmen were Brad Gilliland, Fred Cauthorn, Julian Moore, Wayne Sanderson, Robert Reynolds, Don Russell and Phil Puckett of Sikeston, Herb Rowell of Morehouse, Don House of Bonne Terre and Ronnie Woods of Belleville, Ill., nephew of the bride. The groomsmen also served as ushers.

The groom wore a black Rhett Butler tuxedo with a white ruffled shirt and a pink rosebud boutonniere. The men of the wedding party wore the same style tuxedos with orchid ruffled shirts and a purple daisy boutonniere.

As the bride was escorted down the aisle, she presented her mother with a long-stemmed pink rose from her bouquet. Following the ceremony, she presented the groom's mother a long-stemmed pink rose.

The table was overlaid with a white lace cloth. A summer bouquet of pastel-colored daisies and baby's breath was in the center, and two punch bowls, a silver coffee service and two silver candelabra, a gift from the groom, complemented the table. A summer buffet was served.

The four -tiered cake with Grecian columns was placed on a white covered table draped with net and decorated with pink bows. Fresh pink daisies surrounded the bottom tier of the cake which was topped with pink daisies and white sugar doves. Reception hostess was Mrs. Joe Barker of St. Louis. Gail Thayer, Charetta Porter and Marilyn Noll of St. Louis and Vicki Harrison of Belleville, Ill., acted as servers.

On the eve of the wedding, the groom's parents were hosts for a rehearsal dinner at a Howard Johnson Restaurant for the wedding party and out -of -town guests.

Following a wedding trip to the Lake of the Ozarks, the couple is living at 414 Illinois, Ave., Sikeston. Both are students at Southeast Missouri State University in Cape Girardeau.

Miss Needham was honored July 12 with a miscellaneous shower given by the ladies of the Rauch -Spence United Methodist Church in Morehouse.

On July 13, a shower was given at the home of Mrs. W.C. Mulcahy of 108 Dudley Drive, Sikeston. Hostesses were Mrs. Mulcahy, Mrs. Ken Cauthorn, Mrs. Howard Reynolds and Mrs. Jean Dixon of Sikeston.

A barbecue supper, hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Willard McMikle and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hanna of Sikeston and Mr. and Mrs. Chuck Hanna of Illmo, was given July 13 in the McMikle home, 224 Kramer Drive, Illmo, for the bride and groom and the wedding party.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Alsup of Sikeston, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Binford and Miss Dianne Ezzell of Bertrand, Mrs. John Dancaster of Des Plains, Ill., Ron Mellick of Stratford, Conn., Mike Hodges of Matthews, Keith Sharkey of Morehouse, Joyce Martin of Fredricktown and Kathi Lenin of Chicago.

Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: You will probably be receiving plenty of letters about the boy who wrote to complain because he was "the kid in the middle."

Well, I'm the youngest and I would gladly trade places with him. Here are the reasons:

Whenever anyone comes to the house, Mom or Dad introduces me by saying, "And this is our baby." I am 14 years old.

Almost every teacher I've had says, "So you're another ..... Well, I hope you're the last because I don't think I could stand another one."

Grandparents always want the youngest to stay a baby forever and it bugs me. Their favorite expression is, "My goodness, you're growing like a weed." (They see me every week.)

The youngest gets the hand- me- down clothes and the fewest privileges because even though he is grown- up, they think of him as a little kid and nothing will ever change it. -- Last In Line And That's For Sure

Dear Pal: Would you believe I received more beefs from the OLDEST kid in the family? There's no way a child can pick his spot, so my advice to all of you is to make the best of it and kwitcherbellyachin'.

Dear Ann Landers: This is no problem. It's a complaint-- against that bigmouth kid (aged 17) who was mad because salespeople and bus drivers kept calling him "Miss."

"So I wear long hair. Why not? It's the style," he wrote. Then he went on to say nobody thinks anything of it when girls wear jeans and shirts like guys. He claims the girls are copying the boys. His final clincher was, "I think it's rotten that I am mistaken for a girl but the girls in jeans and shirts are never mistaken for boys. How come?"

Why didn't you tell the jerk that boys who wear long hair are copying girls? Thanks. – Off My Chest

Dear Chest: Good point, but I made an even bigger gaffe by not telling him that it works both ways. Many a girl has been mistaken for a boy, like the time I told a neighbor, "I've seen your son in the elevator and he is very attractive." The woman replied coldly, "We don't have a son. That's our daughter."

Dear Ann Landers: I am not seeking advice. I have a word to say to the woman whose husband is eating breakfast downtown because his wife is such a slob.

Dear Friend: when you were dating, how much time did you spend primping before he came for you?

No husband expects his wife to look like Miss America at seven o'clock in the morning. But he is entitled to something better than a headful of rollers, a ratty bathrobe, and a sour face.

I am 23 and have been married for nearly three years. When I get up to fix my husband breakfast I take a few minutes to brush my hair, put on a little makeup and slip into a fresh house dress. I am not a raving beauty, but I look good enough to keep him out of restaurants in the morning. Just call me – A Smart Cookie

Dear Cookie: Please write to me again in ten years, after you've had three kids.

Giants down Cards, 8-2

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Dave Kingman belted a threerun homer to highlight a fiverun first-inning rally and the San Francisco Giants coasted to an 8-2 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals Friday night.

Tito Fuentes started the rally off Sonny Siebert, 7-8, with a one-out single, moved to third on Gary Thomasson's single and scored on Reggie Smith's throwing error.

Mike Caldwell, 13-3, got the victory, which tied him with injured Los Angeles Dodgers lefthander Tommy John for best winning percentage in the majors at .813.

Cage rule changes

Missouri high school basketball fans will see some changes in the rules when attending the games in 1974-75 according to the Missouri High School Activities Journal.

The biggest change possibly will be the holding up of the hand when a personal foul is committed by a player. A player charged with a foul is not required to raise his hand to be identified.

This rule has long been a sour point to both coaches and players down through the years. Sometime a boy is called for a personal foul and does not agree with the referee and reluctantly lifts his hand. In the past a boy called for a personal foul was required to identify himself by raising his hand or be called for a technical foul allowing the opposing team a free shot and the ball out of bounds.

There didn't seem to be any need for the raising of hand as the referee was responsible for identifying the guilty person to the official score keeper. Professional basketball players never have to raise their hand when called for a personal foul and the official score keeper was always able to keep count of the fouls committed by each player.

Other rules differences for the 1974-75 season are: Casts or braces of pliable (soft) plastic worn on the arm, elbow, finger, hand or wrist are prohibited.

One identifying name may be placed horizontally or vertically on the front and/or back of the shirt.

Games involving teams which combine 9th grade students with students of the 8th and/or 7th grades may be played in 8 minute quarters.

If a correctible error is made while the clock is running, a coaches request to the scorer may be made while the clock is running.

(Penalty): It is a violation, the ball is awarded out- of- bounds to the opponent and no points are scored, if the ball is touched in the basket after entering from below.

(Penalty): Any coach, team attendant or follower charged with a flagrant foul must go to his team's locker room or leave the building until the game is ended. If the offender is a substitute he shall be banished from the vicinity of the court.

Tarkenton gets starting call

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Quarterback Fran Tarkenton puts in his first Busch Stadium appearance in three years while leading the Minnesota Vikings against the St. Louis Cardinals in a preseason National Football League game Saturday night.

The performance by the 34year-old Tarkenton, who is scheduled to start, will be his second this month as helsman of the NFL's defending National Conference champions.

Two weeks ago Tarkenton completed only four of 12 passes as the Vikings were halted 21-9 by the Miami Dolphins in an encore to Super Bowl VII.

Last week he watched from the sidelines as Bob Berry directed Minnesota to a 32-13 triumph over the Buffalo Bills with backing from rookie Hal Chealander.

Accompanying Tarkenton in the Viking backfield will be Chuck Foreman, the NFL's top rookie offensive player in 1973, and 36-year-old Bill Brown, a 14th season veteran.

While Minnesota amassed 401 yards last week, 228 on Berry's passes, the team's massive front four helped restrict Buffalo's O. J. Simpson to 18 yards rushing.

"The Vikings are great both offensively and defensively," Cardinals Coach Don Coryell observed. "We're just going to try to do more things to get ready for the season."

7 Cards loss last week to the New York Jets, has drawn the starting role again for St. Louis.

And Coryell said he will open with veterans Ken Willard and Donny Anderson at running back, nothing he expects to use both "quite a bit more than we have."

Other members of Minnesota who will be returning to familiar surroudnings are wide receiver John Gilliam and right cornerback Nate Wright, both former Cardinals.

Rookie Greg Hartle, the club's 10th round draft choice, has been selected to start at middle linebacker for the Cards in place of injured veteran Mark Arneson.

Minnesota carries a 1-2 preseason record into the 8:05, EDT, test, while the Cards stand 3-2.

Slo pitch tourney at Bertrand

BERTRAND — The Third annual Lions Club Slo- Pitch invitational softball tournament is scheduled to begin Sept. 9, according to an announcement by Lucian Black.

Entries will be accepted through Sept. 3, for the double elimination affair.

Teams will be limited to a 15 man roster, a $10 entry fee will be required and no games will be played on Wednesday or Friday throughout the tournament, so as not to conflict with church and high school football on Friday evenings.

For additional information, contact Black at 683-4276, after 4 p.m. each evening.

Christopher T. wins Hambletonian

DU QUOIN, Ill. (AP) — Christopher T. won straight heats Friday to capture the 49th Hambletonian Stake and give driver Billy Haughton his first triumph in harness racing's most prestigious event.

Christopher T. won the third heat and the $80,075 winner's purse in 1:58 3-5, a little more than an hour after he won the second race in 1:59 4-5. Nevele Diamond, winner of the first division, held the lead at the halfway mark of the third heat but faltered in the final quartermile and was passed by Stock Split, Anvil, Golden Sovereign and Sing Away Herbert.

The 22 3-year-old trotters were split in two divisions of 11 each for the first and second heats.

Sing Away Herbert went to front early in the final match and Anvil took the lead at the first quarter. After Nevele Diamond faltered, Sing Away Herbert recaptured the lead at the third-quarter mark and Christopher T. made his winning dash in the stretch.

Houghton said, "I really didn't think he had a chance to take it. He hadn't been right...but he finally made it.

Christopher T., a brown colt, raced in Indianapolis last week and failed to qualify for the final heat.

Houghton, 40, capturing his first Hambleton after 14 tries, said after Christopher T.'s effort in Indianapolis, "I'm not so sure if he had been my horse I would have started him."

Nevele Diamond, who fell back to seventh in the final heat, was the second-place winner in the stake, and favored Golden Sovereign, with finishes of second and fourth, was the third-place winner.

Tourney set at Kennett

KENNETT — The Kennett C. C. Men's Club Tournament will be held this Sunday, Sept. 8, with the opening 18 holes to be played in the morning starting at 8:30 and the finals following up in the afternoon beginning at 1:30. The 36-hole classic will open with a shotgun start.

The opening 18 holes will be played to qualify for flights only, with everyone starting the second 18 holes even in their flights. The second 18 holes will determine the winners in each flight. Any player may declare himself in a higher flight if he wishes.

Entry fee is $5 in advance and must be paid before the closing date, which has been set for Saturday, Sept. 7. Age limit for the tournament is 16 years and over.

Late summer, fall good time to apply needed limestone

By JOHN GARRETT
Area Agronomy Specialist

BENTON — Grain and fiber crops can use a large amount of nutrients if the soil is adequately supplied with limestone. The payoff for satisfactory fertility is bushels of grain or bales of cotton in Southeast Missouri. A satisfactory lime situation is a basic for productiveness. It's natural for productive soils to require reliming from time to time.

Late summer through the fall is an excellent time to apply needed limestone. Soil conditions are usually best for uniform and fast spreading. Fields are usually in good shape where small grains and silage crops have been harvested, or where pastures and hay fields and others are being prepared for fall seedings.

If you need limestone this year, you will likely find it advantageous to make early arrangements with your lime producers. Delay until late fall and winter often results in disappointment with slow spreading and trucks being stuck because of wet, soggy soils.

Few farms in Southeast Missouri can boast of an excellent lime situation for all fields. Most farms have a few fields which have been adequately limed in the last ten years, but it is rare for all fields to be in top condition. A summary of soil tests in 1972 indicated that seven out of 10 fields need limestone badly.

Limestone costs money just as any other production practice, but delaying the needed applications may be more costly by limiting yields and quality of grain, fiber and forage crops. Use of limestone when needed may easily increase wheat, corn or soybean yields by 8 to 10 bushels per acre, stretch production of pasture and hay crops and increase cotton yields one- fourth base per acre.

Fertilizers, especially nitrogen and phosphates, are more effective in plant nutrition when excessive soil acidity is neutralized by limestone. Phosphate reacts with heavy metalic elements such as aluminum, iron and manganese under acid soil conditions making it unavailable for plant use. Fertilizer is expensive so you can't afford to lose any by fixation in the soil.

Micro- organisms decompose organic residues and soil organic matter most efficiently when the soil pH is approximately 6.0 or above. Commercial nitrogen fertilizers do a better job when the lime situation is satisfactory.

The structure of some soils is improved with liming. Tight soils that run together are often easier to work after liming as a result of improved tilth. Liming acid, clay soils aids in changing the soil structure to a more granular nature.

There is no way to make a good guess as to how much limestone is needed for a field. A poor guess can be costly in either using too little limestone to do a satisfactory job or spending more money for material which isn't needed.

Researcher checks plots

"No -Till" cotton plots are checked by Harold Kerr, weed researcher at the University of Missouri -Columbia's Delta Center near Portageville. The practice, which will save growers $20 to $25 an acre, will be demonstrated Sept. 17 at the Delta Center Field Day near Portageville.

'No-till' cotton will save grower $20-$25 an acre

PORTAGEVILLE --"No -till" cotton is on the way --and it should save growers $20 to $25 per acre, reports Harold Kerr, weed researcher at the University of Missouri - Columbia's Delta Center.

"Our plots look real promising," says Kerr. "We don't use a cultivator at all. And we like the looks of what we have --very well!"

He said the only reason growers don't already have no -till cotton is that Roundup. one of the herbicides needed to make the procedure work, won't be cleared for farm use until 1976. But then, growers will be able to save on fuel, equipment, time and labor by producing cotton the no -till way.

"Really, this is cotton production without cultivation," said Kerr.

"We disc the soil in the fall. Then, in early spring, we bed or hip up before planting the cotton. One difference is that we follow immediately behind the bedder with a bed knocker, or do -all tool and flatten the bed so it will be ready to plant when planting season comes around the first of May.

"Then we allow the vegetation to grow in these beds, and we plant through it with a disc -opener type planter.

"We follow immediately behind the planter with herbicides to kill that green vegetation. We also apply a residual herbicide to control the weeds that have not yet germinated but will be coming up in the summer."

Kerr said his residual herbicides are "old reliables," Cotoran and Karmes. These are combined with Roundup to kill the green vegetation that's on the bed at planting time.

"We may also have to apply a directed post emergence spray of MSMA to clean up small weeds that come on about eight weeks after planting," Kerr added.

Wheat yield data listed

By THOMAS A. BROWN JR.
Area Agronomy Specialist

BLOOMFIELD — Several inquiries from farmers pertaining to wheat varieties to plant this year have already come to the University of Missouri Extension Center in Bloomfield.

Results of wheat variety trials conducted at the University of Missouri Delta Center at Portageville show a comparison of varieties included in the trials during recent years. This yield data might serve as a guide to farmers as to varieties that they want to plant this season.

Variety	Yield, Bu. Per Acre 1970-73	1972-73
Arthur	45.7	41.4
Stoddard	45.2	33.6
Blueboy II		38.8
McNair 4823		40.3
Coker 68-15		42.5
Abe		35.4
Arthur 71*	41.2	40.1

*Three year average only - 1971-73.

The four- year average yields, 1970-73 will serve as a more dependable guide for the selection of varieties for those varieties included. Two- year average results were also outlined to show yields of newer varieties that have only been in the variety trials for two years.

The 1974 yield data was not included because yield results are not considered as dependable as the data outlined due to the unfavorable season.

Arthur is a high yielding variety with a short, stiff straw, a good test weight and has moderate resistance to leaf rust, stem rust, powdery mildew, loose smut and soil-borne mosaic.

Arthur 71, which was derived from Arthur, has improved resistance to all known races of Hessian fly and the "transfer" type of resistance to leaf rust.

Stoddard is a Stadler x Redcoat cross developed by the University of Missouri. It is a medium height, stiff strawed, disease- resistant variety with high yield potential.

Blueboy II, a relatively new variety derived from Blueboy, is earlier, higher in test weight, more resistant to leaf rust and more winterhardy than Blueboy. It still tends to be a little low in test weight, however.

Abe is an early, stiff strawed variety which has resistance to leaf rust and Hessian fly. Although it has performed well in Northern Missouri, its yields have fallen below Arthur, a parent variety, in Southeast Missouri.

Coker 68-15 is a semi-dwarf commercial variety that is very short and stiff- strawed. It has high yielding ability, high test weight and is resistant to leaf rust and soil- borne mosaic.

McNair 4823 is also a commercial variety which has resistance to leaf rust and some races of stem rust, but is susceptible to some races of mildew.

Additional information pertaining to wheat varieties may be obtained upon request from county University of Missouri Extension Centers.

USDA conducts limited review of crop prospects

WASHINGTON-- Rainfall during the first half of August over much of the plains and corn belt states apparently did not promote significant gains in corn production, although soybeans could benefit form the moisture, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Unusual public interest concerning the potential output of 1974 crops prompted USDA's Statistical Reporting Service to conduct this quick mid -month review.

SRS contacted its field offices in major producing states to determine the effect of precipitation and temperatures since Aug. 1, in relation to normal, particularly for corn and soybeans.

Development since Aug. 1 was also evaluated in terms of stage of maturity and the ability of the plants to respond to more favorable weather.

The review did not include a survey of producers nor visits to sample fields to obtain plant measurement and observations.

The qualitative review indicated that precipitation and temperatures were favorable to sustain the Aug. 1 potential corn production reported by SRS, but that additional rain is needed to replensih depleted soil moisture and supplies and promote production gains of any significant magnitude.

The 1974 crop is generally late developing and any growth stimulated by recent rains must be evaluated in terms of average first killing frost dates.

Soybeans may benefit from the August rains, but any increase output from new growth also will depend on the killing frosts as well as normal precipitation the rest of the growing season.

The next official forecast of production is scheduled to be published in the SRS Crop Production Report on Sept. 11.

'Convincer' is convincing

The Seat Belt Convincer, owned and exhibited by the Missouri Division of Highway Safety, is criss -crossing the state this summer showing "Show -Me" State residents the value of a seat belt and harness. Here, Kent Jesse, a public safety instructor at Central Missouri State University in Warrensburg, prepares St. Louis metropolitan police officer Edward Graves for a demonstration ride. The Convincer was exhibited for the public during the Missouri State Fair in Sedalia.

Report says board not using Standards

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) --The state Board of Registration for the Healing Arts has not used standards set by Missouri's legislature to license doctors, a state audit report said today.

After a three -year audit of the agency, state Auditor John Ashcroft, said, "We are only stating that these doctors did not pass an examination whose grading met the requirements of state law."

Missouri law says a candidate for licensing must score at least 75 per cent for each of two parts in a standarized test. In addition, a candidate must score at least 60 per cent on each subject -matter area.

In June, the board dropped its two -part test and adopted a three -part FLEX exam adminstered by the Federation of State Medical Boards.

In February, 1973, it passed a resolution allowing a weighted average of 75 on the entire test regardless of specific section scores as a passing grade. The next month the decision was made retrocative to June, 1972.

"The February and March, 1973, resolutions passed by the board circumvented the statutory requirement," Ashcroft said.

Because FLEX scoring is computed for the entire exam and does not include part or subject matter scores. "It is not possible to determine whether any of the 452 doctors licensed between June, 1972 and December, 1973, met legal requirements,.' Ashcroft said.

"Even if numerical scores on individual subjects in the examination could be considered equivalent to percentages, 206 of these licensed would be of questionable validity," the state auditor noted, because they fall short of either the 60 or 75 per cent requirements.

A survey in the audit report showed 34 of 39 states responding to the survey also used a weighted averate of 75 on the FLEX test as a passing grade.

"These facts support the board's assertions that high standards are being maintained in the licensing of physicians in Missouri," Ashcroft said. "However, they do not justify circumventing the apparent intent of state law."

He recommended that the board comply with present law until the legislature deletes the inflexible requirements.

Four candidates posting substandard scores for the May, 1972 examination — before FLEX was instituted—were licensed in violation of state law and board policy, the report said. An investigation to determine if their licenses should be revoked should be made, Ashcroft concluded. The names were not disclosed.

Under new Bell rates phone would cost $50

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — It would cost about $50, including a deposit, to obtain a telephone under new rate schedules proposed by Southwestern Bell Telephone.

In a background briefing session here Thursday, R. Ray Shockley, Southwestern Bell vice president, and his aides discussed some increased costs in the company's $52.3 million proposed rate hike that will be heard by the Missouri Public Service Commission in February.

The average phone bills will increase by 15 per cent. Rates were increased an average of 13 per cent in August of 1972 and 8 per cent in October of 1969.

"We're moving to put the burden more on the cost-causer rather than on all users," Shockley said.

The cost of installing a single residential telephone would be increased from $13 to $24. The $24 is broken down as $9 for a new line, $12 for the installation and $3 for the phone.

Installing service with two extensions would cost $30. If a phone already is in the home and an extension is desired, it would cost $15.

A deposit will average from $20 to $25, Shockley said. Company officials did not have figures available on the number of persons charged a deposit. However, many persons are not charged one, they said.

There will be a 5-cent increase in long-distance rates for calls only within the state.

In addition, pay phone costs will go from 10 cents to 20 cents for local calls.

Because of vandalism and theft of phone books, Shockley said, the company loses money on pay phones.

When the pay phone charge was increased from a nickel to a dime in 1952, he said, it cost the company $79 to buy a pay phone. The cost now is $238 for a pay phone.

Pay phone prices have been increased to 15 cents in Washington state and 20 cents in North Carolina.

13 governors summoned for possible violations

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe Friday summoned the governors of 13 states to a Justice Department meeting concerning the legality of lotteries operated by those states.

"Serious questions have risen concerning the legality of the lottery that is being conducted in your state," Saxbe told each governor in a telegram. "There is a distinct possibility that there are violations of the criminal provisions of the federal code."

In the telegram, Saxbe invited the governors to meet with him and other department officials on Sept. 6.

Saxbe said the department is considering a civil suit seeking a permanent injunction against the lotteries unless Congress passes legislation to exempt state lotteries from applicable federal law.

Department lawyers for the past several months have been studying whether state-operated lotteries violate federal statutes prohibiting the purchase or distribution of lottery tickets by mail and prohibiting the distribution of lottery tickets in interstate commerce.

Governors invited to the meeting are Thomas J. Meskill of Connecticut, Sherman W. Tribbitt of Delaware, Daniel Walker of Illinois, Marvin Mandel of Maryland, Kenneth Curtis of Maine, Francis W. Sargent of Massachusetts, William G. Milliken of Michigan, Meldrim Thomson Jr. of New Hampshire, Brendan T. Byrne of New Jersey, Malcolm Wilson of New York, John J. Gilligan of Ohio, Milton J. Shapp of Pennsylvania and Philip W. Noel of Rhode Island.

This subdivision has gravel streets, city water, electric power, and telephone already available. Each lot is equipped with these utilities placed underground to give weather-free service and to keep unsightly poles and wires from cluttering the landscape.

Funeral services for Mrs. Bessie Shannon, who died of a hemorrhage and shock in a Cape Girardeau hospital Wednesday, were held Friday at Wiseman, Ark., her former home.

David E. Blanton and Conley L. Purcell were among the 114 applicants for licenses to practice law in Missouri, who passed the State bar examinations which were given in Jefferson City the last of June. David Blanton has now joined his brother, Harry Blanton, and M. E. Montgomery in their law offices in the Peoples Bank building here.

Following a plan which they formed soon after their graduation from Sikeston High school in May, 1933, the men who were members of the first football squad during the fall of 1932 met Monday for dinner at the Marshall Hotel. Most of the men, who had as their guest Monday, Coach Peg Mahew, are still residents of Sikeston. However, Clint (Ironhead) Caldwell came here from Osceola, Ark.; and Captain Albert (Pete) Mull came from Charleston. Other who attended were: Robert (Monk) Jackson, Leo (Leelola) Cunningham; William (Buddy) Thrower, Kelly (Sir) Humes, John (Mac) McMullin, Paul (Tutie) Jones, Harry (Bull) Young, jr., Ben F. (Skipper) Carroll, jr., and A. B. (Arab) Moll.

Funeral services will be conducted Friday from the family residence at Vanduser for Mrs. Annie Jane Joyce, wife of J. R. Joyce, who passed away at her home on August 29, following an illness of the past 18 months with dropsy and asthma.

Prayer for today

from the Upper Room

"This is the day which the Lord hath made; we will rejoice and be glad in it." (Psalm 118:24)

PRAYER: Dear Lord, forgive me for acting as if life is a burden. Instead of always coming before You with my problems and complaints, help me to pray freshly. Thank You, God, for letting me live to see this day. Hallelujah! In the name of the Lord Jesus Christ. Amen.

The case of the union appeaser

By JACK STRAUSS, LL.B.

Margie found herself between the devil and the deep blue sea. On the one hand, her religious convictions prohibited her from making any contribution to a labor organization. On the other hand, her employer under his collective bargaining agreement, was required to bounce any employe who didn't pay his union dues.

The result? When Margie decided to go along with her religious convictions, and didn't pay her dues, she was immediately belted from her job on the belt line at Dinkle's factory. Outraged, she sued Mr. Dinkle for having fired her.

"I've got nothing against Margie," pleaded Mr. Dinkle in court, "and I've got nothing against her religion. But, I had no choice. Under my collective bargaining agreement, I had to let her go."

"Nobody has to do anything when it's unconstitutional," was Margie's answer, "and firing a person because of his religious beliefs certainly can't be constitutional It's just that as a businessman, Mr. Dinkle preferred to appease a union than God."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you make the union-appeasing employer pay for firing Margie?

This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that a purely private employer has a common- law right to dismiss at will any employe who has no contrary contract. What's more, concluded the judge, Margie wasn't fired because of her religion. She was fired because she didn't pay her union dues.

(Based upon a 1970 United States District Court Decision)

Teacher of Year to be selected

JEFFERSON CITY — Early this school year, the state's public school districts will select nominees to compete for the honor of being Missouri's Teacher of the Year for 1974-75.

The Missouri Teacher of the Year, selected as the best and most representative of all the state's teachers, from kindergarten through grade 12, will then compete with nominees from the other 49 states for title of National Teacher of the Year.

Missouri's Teacher of the Year for 1973-74 was Louis H. Banker of the Fort Osage School District near Independence.

All local school district nominee applications should be returned to the State Department of Elementary and Secondary Education by Sept. 15. The Department of Education is coordinating the collection of applications, but a statewide committee of professional and lay persons will make the final selection of Missouri's Teacher of the Year.

Base units get new commanders

BLYTHEVILLE, Ark. — Three Blytheville Air Force Base units have new commanders. The units are the 97th Field Maintenance Squadron, 97th Avionics Maintenance Squadron and 97th Airborne Missile Maintenance Squadron.

Heading Field Maintenance is Maj. Bayard E. Foster, who formerly commanded the Airborne Missile Maintenance unit. Most of his 19 years of Air Force Service has been spent in maintenance units.

Lt. Col. Charles D. Anderson commands Avionics Maintenance. He has logged 5,000 hours in Air Force aircraft and was commander of a unit at Ellsworth AFB, S.D., prior to his assignment here.

Lt. Col. Harold F. Beamer, formerly assigned to the 97th Bomb Wing Directorate of Training, commands the Airborne Missile unit. He has spent all of his 18 years of Air Force service in Stragegic Air Command. He has flown in KC-97 and KC-135 aircraft.

Alligator farmer bides his time

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Beady eyes peer from flowercovered pools where Ed Froehlich raises 1,000 alligators and waits for the day when killing them will be legal.

He moves carefully when he's near the hungry gators. He says they would as soon bite off his leg as not.

"I've got all I can do to jump out of the truck, throw them a couple buckets of fish and jump back in again," Froehlich says of the late summer feeding frenzies of the 4-to 12-foot adults.

Froehlich started his alligator farm in 1966 on the assumption the law eventually will change so he can slaughter the reptiles for their leather.

He raises them on part of his 2,500-acre cattle ranch in Palm Beach County and last year pumped $10,000 into the project.

Froehlich, one of the few licensed alligator farmers in Florida, has 15 acres of pens and ponds for the reptiles. He feeds the baby gators every other day with 60 to 80 pounds of chicken necks — skinned, dusted with a vitamin supplement and ground into mush. The grownups get a ton or more of mullet and a few cattle — hide and all — every two weeks.

Froehlich credits the food for his success at alligator farming and reports the hatch of 338 little gators last year. He says, "Gators are like anybody else. They need variety."

In the United States, it's illegal to kill alligators except during tightly controlled hunting seasons in Louisiana. Federal law forbids transportation of alligator skins or products across state lines.

There is no indication the law will be changed soon but Froehlich says changes are inevitable.

"It's a thing that's going to come and I'd like to be on the ground floor," he says. "There isn't anybody closer to nature than me but everything is here for a purpose — to benefit man."

Says Froehlich: "If nature lovers can justify raising cattle for food and leather, why not raise alligators for the same purpose? The leather is beautiful and the meat lean."

Films available to area schools

Alcohol, its personal, social and economic effects on our society, is the subject of the first of the 1974-75 series of Associated Press SPECIAL REPORT filmstrips being made available to area schools by The Daily Standard.

The sound- and - color filmstrip emphasized the use and abuse of alcohol among teen-agers, noting that the number of teen-age alcoholics in the United States is estimated at 450,000, with the number growing daily.

The program, latest in a series of award- winning filmstrips, points to a recent government report which puts the annual economic loss to the nation -- in lost work, medical expenses and motor vehicle accidents -- at $25 billion.

"Alcohol Effects on Society" includes actual interviews with teen-age alcoholics, as well as school and hospital officials who examine the reasons and reality of this major national problem. Authorities involved are asked why teen-agers are turning to alcohol and how the use of alcohol is rated to the use of other drugs. They also discuss varied school and outside programs designed to help problem drinkers, such as Alcholics Anonymous, Alateen and Ala-Non.

Burlison wants no embargo

CAPE GIRARDEAU — "We are fast approaching a situation similar to the summer of 1973 when the administration levied the soybean export embargo," 10th District Rep. Bill D. Burlison stated Thursday night in an address before the Cape Girardeau County Farm Bureau.

He pointed out that under the Export Administration Act, the Secretary of Agriculture must give his approval before the embargo can be carried out. Burlison said he questioned Secretary Earl Butz closely on this issue when the secretary appeared before his Appropriations Subcommittee on Agriculture earlier this year.

Burlison quoted Butz's testimony to the effect that both the beef freeze and soybean embargo were counter- productive and unwise and that he is "vigorously opposing" any further embargoes, related Burlison.

Burlison stated that his intent was to commit Butz, to the fullest extent possible, in opposition to the controls. "In retrospect," concluded Burlison, "It is seen that we see the intense processor and consumer interests pressures again bearing down with demands for an embargo on wheat, corn and soybeans."

Burlison also discussed the presidential veto of the fiscal year 1975 Agriculture Appropriations Bill and other agriculture- related legislative issues.

Cystic fibrosis victim, finds family and love

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — David Link, a victim of cystic fibrosis, has spent most of his two years shuttling from one foster home to another.

Now the shuttling is over. A couple whose 9-year-old daughter also suffers from the incurable disease has adopted him.

"We could not let him spend his entire life not knowing the love of his own family, not knowing the meaning of Daddy or Mama or other things we take for granted," says Gerry Link, 33, an assistant vice president at a Tallahassee bank.

"Because we have gone with a child with the problem from six months to 9 years old, it was much easier for us to adapt to the problems than for a family who didn't know about them," Link adds.

David was placed in the care of the state after his parents began leaving him at neighbors' homes for long periods of time and refused to buy him food. Last year the parents agreed to put David up for adoption and the Links applied in December.

Their daughter, Bonnie, was six months old when she first began suffering from the hereditary disease, which causes the lungs to fill up with a thick mucus. Sufferers need constant care, a special diet and exercises three times a day.

The life expectancy of a cystic fibrosis victim has increased in recent years from 6 to 20, Link says.

Air base tops conservation goal

BLYTHEVILLE, Ark. — Blytheville Air Force Base has topped its fiscal year 1975 resources conservation (Recon) goal after only seven weeks. Since July 1, base units have submitted cost- cutting ideas totaling over $895,000.

The goal for the base was $620,000, and so far $895,400 has been saved since the beginning of the fiscal year.

Highway department provides aid

JEFFERSON CITY — The Missouri State Highway Department has begun providing a new type of engineering assistance in traffic operation to the cities and counties of the state. The help, which became available the first of this month, is for use at problem locations on streets and highways not maintained by the highway department.

It is being provided by two firms of consulting engineers retained by the State Highway Department and paid for their services from federal funds made available through the Division of Highway Safety.

Robert N. Hunter, chief engineer of the State Highway Department, said, "The cities and counties have for some time now been expressing to us their needs for help in traffic operation and control at problem locations not on the state- maintained highway system, and we're happy to be able to provide this new consulting service to them. It probably will find its most frequent application and offer its greatest help in the smaller communities and rural counties of the state."

Hunter added that the purpose of the new consulting service is to help cities and counties solve specific traffic problems.

Cities and counties interested in obtaining the help of the new service, which will be cost free to them, can do so through their local district office of the State Highway Department.

Now is best time to start new lawn

COLUMBIA — This is the best time to start a new lawn or "green-up" an old one, according to Bill Lobenstein, University of Missouri-Columbia lawn specialist.

"The best seeding dates are between August 20 and Sept. 15 in Mid-Missouri, because the warm days and cool nights are good for germinating cool season grasses like bluegrass and fine fescue," notes Lobenstein. "Figure a week later in the southern part of the state and a week earlier in the northern part."

This is definitely the best time to fertilize a lawn. Properly nourished grass makes a most rapid recovery from summer adversity now. Holes fill in fast, and the grass makes good root growth for next year. Fall is the period when most new plants are formed for next season's turf.

And there are fewer disease problems if you do your major fertilizing now, instead of in the spring.

To make sure fertility levels are up to par, says Lobenstein, get a soil test. These are available at Extension centers or some fertilizer dealers.

In absence of a soil test, Lobenstein has these guidelines:

In the case of a new lawn, figure 15 to 20 pounds of 10-10-10, 12-12-12 or equivalent amounts of similar complete fertilizer per 1,000 sq. ft. of lawn. About half of that fertilizer should be incorporated in the top 3-4 inches of the soil. Keep the other half of the fertilizer to use as a "starter" on top of the grass seed. You may also need to incorporate limestone as you prepare the seedbed. If you haven't any soil tests to guide you, figure 50 pounds of lime per 1,000 square feet.

In case of an established lawn, you'll want to apply a fertilizer with a higher nitrogen content (like 20-5-10). The easiest thing to do, says Lobenstein, is to try to find a good fertilizer buy. Then apply it according to recommendations on the label or at rates which will supply one pound of nitrogen per 1,000 square feet.

If you're putting in a new lawn, recommended seeding rates per 1,000 square feet are as follows: bluegrass varieties or blends, 1 1/2 to 2 pounds; red fescues, 3 to 4; bluegrass-red fescue mixtures, 2 to 3; tall fescue, 7 to 8; rye grasses, 5 to 6.

After seeding, mulching the lawn with a weed-free straw or wood fiber is desirable, says Lobenstein. The mulch helps keep soil from washing and crusting. It also keeps soil moist, so you don't have to water so often.

"After applying mulch, soak the seeded area immediately after planting to a depth of several inches. But soak slowly so it does not cause runoff. After that, sprinkle the lawn enough to keep the surface slightly moist. The best time is mid-day or early in the afternoon.

"After roots are well established, frequent sprinkling should give way to less frequent but deeper watering.

"Without mulch, you may have to water a couple of times a day when seed is germinating, because only a few hours dryness may kill the seedlings."

Then, if everything goes well, it's mowing time.

"The young grass should not be allowed to get so high that it falls over," says Lobenstein, "so don't hesitate to mow the new lawn when it's 2 to 2 1/2 inches high.

"Cut off no more than one-third of the height at each mowing.

"Be sure mower is sharp so it doesn't bruise or pull out tender young plants."

These lawn guides are available (single copies of each are free, from your Extension Center or by writing to Publications, 205 Whitten Hall, University of Missouri-Columbia, Columbia, MO 65201.

Aged mother seeks Medicare

Q. My mother is 84 years old. She's not really sick, but she's going into a nursing home because she has trouble getting around and taking care of herself. Will Medicar help pay for her care?

A. No. Care such as help in walking, dressing, bathing and eating is called custodial care and is not covered under Medicare. Only continuing skilled nursing or rehabilitation services in a skilled nursing facility can be covered by Medicare.

SeMo U. to offer new class

CAPE GIRARDEAU — A new course which will count toward the recertification of vocational teachers will be offered for the first time during the fall semester at Southeast Missouri State University, according to Dr. Bryce March, head of the university's department of industrial and technical education.

The three- semester - hour undergraduate course, Foundations of Vocational Education, is designed primarily for teachers in area vocational- technical schools and instructors of vocational courses in high schools, Dr. March said.

However, beginning vocational teachers are also eligible to enroll, according to the department head.

Registration for the class will be taken on the campus at 6 p.m. Sept. 2, and regular sessions will be held each Monday evening thereafter from 6 to 9.

There is no charge to instructional or administrative personnel who teach or administer approved vocational programs and whose salaries are partially reimbursed from state or federal vocational funds or Manpower Development and Training Act funds.

Individuals who have written proof of employment from a local educational agency to teach or administer an approved vocational program are also exempt from fees if they are to begin work within one calendar year after their initial enrollment.

The charge to other students will be $16 per semester hour or $48 for the three-hour course.

One of the primary purposes of the course, according to Dr. March, is to develop an awareness of the total vocational program. The development of federal, state and local programs will be considered, and attention will also be given to individualizing instruction, the career education movement and innovation in vocational education.

Difficult to Get Facts

Mental Health and the Moon

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb — Would you care to comment, in your column, on what may seem a cockeyed subject?

Do medical men, particularly psychiatrists, take any stock in the idea that the phases of the moon have an effect on mentally disturbed people? Our family has such a problem, and one of the — presumably normal — members insists that the full moon has an unfavorable effect on the person concerned.

Dear Reader — There is no evidence that the phases of the moon have any effect on a person's mind or other bodily functions.

The body does function in relation to a large number of rhythms, including the simple day-night cycle. Some of these functions are definitely influenced by the hours of daylight and darkness which, of course, change with seasons. The mating characteristics of some animals and the reproduction of plants are geared to the changes in hours of daylight. Since hormones are involved in reproduction, and hormone production and psychic responses are interrelated, there can be personality changes associated with differences in lengths of the day-night cycle.

It is well known that a woman's personality and moods shift frequently with the stages of her monthly cycle. It is related to the influence of different female hormones produced by the body and, interestingly enough, the production of hormones is related to the rhythmic organization of the brain. These functions are not so easily separated. A woman's brain rhythm pattern is actually organized during fetal development as a result of the female hormones (or absence of male hormone) in the developing body.

Despite the differences in day-night cycle, and difference in seasons, there is no evidence that the moon affects the minds of unstable persons in any way comparable to its effects on ocean tides. Ideas of this sort are all old superstitions. As you mentioned in the rest of your letter, the "believers" tend to notice the "hits" and overlook the "misses."

Most people have a variation in mood throughout the day, with different levels of energy. Others have more clear-cut mood swings from time to time — but these are normal and, within limits of the swing, have no real significance.

There is some indication of cyclic changes in mental disturbances. These are more evident in some instances than in others. After all, the manic depressive cycles are associated with cycles of depression. These vary in length and are influenced by many different factors. I suppose it would be possible, in certain instances, to find some correlation of this with the phases of the moon but this would never withstand scientific or statistical analysis. So there is no way that such information can be used in any way to help a patient with mental or emotional problems.

Radiation in smoke may cause cancer

ST. LOUIS — Tar and nicotine are some of the hazardous substances in tobacco smoke. But not the only ones.

Dr. Edward A. Martell of the National Center for Atmospheric Research says the cancer- causing ingredient in cigarette smoke may be radiation instead of tar. Tiny, radioactive particles become imbedded in a smoker's lungs, he says, and build up over the years until he or she is getting radiation doses that rival those of uranium miners.

In his research, Dr. Martell has discovered that radioactive particles in the atmosphere can collect on the sticky hairs of tobacco leaves. When the hairs burn, radioactive lead is fused into the hair particles. Dr. Martell is attempting to prove that damaged lungs are most likely to collect and hold the radioactive particles, because the lungs' defenses are already deficient.

In a smoker's lungs, Dr. Martell, says thousands of particles gather over the years in tiny clusters. A longtime smoke is still being bombarded with radiation caused by cigarettes smoked years before.

Researchers at the Swiss Institute for Experimental Research have found that the gases in cigarette smoke carbon monoxide, nitrogen dioxide and acrolein -- cause even more damage to lung cells after four days than do the tars. Still another substance in cigarette smoke, a metal called cadmium, is suspected as the chief cause of a crippling lung disease called emphysema.

Scientists are still counting the hazards in cigarette smoke. But there is no controversy about the facts. Cigarette smoking is the chief cause of emphysema, chronic bronchitis, lung cancer and coronary heart disease.

To find out more about the hazards of cigarette smoking and ways to help people quit, contact your lung association. It's a matter of life and breath.

School is vital event in lives of Missourians

JEFFERSON CITY — Summer's glories may linger, but a very important "happening" is about to begin for an estimated 1,066,000 young Missourians who will attend the state's public schools this year.

A few of the state's 572 school districts began classes the week of Aug. 19. An even larger number started the week of Aug. 26, including the Kansas City Public School. The final big push comes the week of September 3 when the remaining school districts open their classrooms for the year.

The enrollment in Missouri's public schools this year will be down about 8,000 from last year, reflecting the downward trend in birth rates over the past few years, according to projections by the State Department of Elementary and Secondary Education.

Approximately 75,000 kindergarteners -- five - year - olds on their way to greatly expanding their world -- will walk down the sidewalk and off to regular school for the first time this year.

Another record year for high school graduates is expected, as an estimated 71,000 young people begin their last year of high school. During the 1973-74 school year, some 62,000 youngsters graduated from the state's public high schools -- the largest graduating class to date.

This is the first year for the state's new high school graduation requirements. Under the new requirements, a student must complete a minimum of 20 units of credit, or the equivalent, in the areas of communication skills, mathematics, science, social studies, fine arts, practical arts, and physical education during grades nine and above. Each student must earn at least six units selected from among the areas of communication skills, social studies, mathematics, and science, with at least one unit in each area of these four areas.

The program a youth follows should be cooperatively planned by the student, his parents and the school to meet the individual needs of the student. The state high school graduation requirements are the minimum standards, the starting point for each district to develop its local graduation requirements.

In this school year, an estimated 8,000 school buses will transport about 650,000 youngsters more than 78 million route miles. Also, before the school year ends, more than 100 million lunches are expected to be served in the public school cafeterias and lunch rooms.

The Department of Education estimates that the state's school districts will employ 30,000 noncertificated persons and 53,000 certificated persons, including 50,000 classroom teachers.

The public schools are expected to spend more than $1 billion on their educational programs (excluding capital outlay and debt service) during 1974-75. This figure represents total expenditures, including local, state and federal funds.

Fall good time to kill weeds

COLUMBIA — "Fa!' can be a more effective time than spring to kill existing broadleaf weeds like dandelions and plantians," claims Bill Lobenstein, University of Missouri - Columbia lawn specialist.

"You can kill old plants now -- plus any that have started from seeds blown in during summer."

Lobenstein says if you wait until mid-October to apply herbicides, you can kill germinating chickweed and henbit in addition to dandelions and plantains.

He recommends a combination of 2,4-D and Silvex.

"By applying these in mid-October, you weaken weeds so that those which survive the herbicides will be winter- killed," notes Lobenstein. "It's also the best time of the year to avoid damage to surrounding trees and shrubs."

As for crabgrass ... well, it depends on how bad it is.

"If you have heavy crabgrass mats, use a power rake or dethatcher to rip it up," says Lobenstein. "That keeps it from competing with your lawn.

"Most light infestations will be knocked out by killing frost. If you still have a problem, wait until next spring and apply a good pre-emergence herbicide."

AN OFFER HE COULDN'T REFUSE

NUNEATON, England (AP) — A customer, lacking the full price of the auto he wanted to buy, offered Roger Hext a donkey as a trade-in. Hext parked the five-year-old model, called Neptune, in the forecourt of his garage until he could find it a home.
